Ole Miss is a culture of its own created by those who go there. It's a living thing made up of its history, the commitment of its faculty, and the future of its students. It is a potpourri of personalities, lifestyles, and perspectives. It's a continual fashion statement of biking pants and hightops, Liz Claiborne and Gucci, Duckheads and blazers, Greek T's and cutoffs. It's tailgating in the Grove and partying before, during and after the game. It's a tradition handed down from generations past to be carried on for generations to come. It's academic advancement and world-renowned achievements. It's beauty in itself and in its people. It's road trips and weekends that begin on Thursdays. It's deep discussions at a Union table or between classes in the Circle. It's the crispness of autumn and the newness of spring. It's ingrained in the lives of those who know it so well. Whatever your place at Ole Miss . . . It's for the rest of your life!

Respect for the past, pride in the present, vision for the future — rich in history and steeped in tradition, the University of Mississippi proudly celebrates 140 years of academic achievement by preserving zest for the future, by refusing to rest on past laurels, by leaping with enthusiastic anticipation into the twenty-first century. Born over 140 years ago, the philosophy that is today Ole Miss grew out of the vision of a few leading Mississippians to tie the University and her mission to two revered literary and scholastic traditions — those of ancient Greece and Oxford University in England. These men wanted to create a garden, much like the grove where Aristotle taught his students, in which the search for truth, through constant dialectic and inquiry, could flourish. They chose Oxford as the home for the first University building, the Lyceum, in an imaginative endeavor to craft a philosophy for the University founded on ancient Greek and later Enlightenment ideals of scholarship. History tells us that Aristotle would often walk with his students through a grove called the Lyceum, and through questioning them, confronting them with fresh concepts, would encourage their intellectual awakening and incite them to deeper self-examination and perception of the world about them. The University, in the minds of her founders, was to be Aristotle's grove transplanted to the hills of North Mississippi, a mecca where lofty thoughts as well as practical knowledge challenged her inhabitants. Today, Ole Miss fulfills her charge, her mission to challenge students in every aspect of life by drawing on this rich scholastic heritage as an inspiration for the future. And all this rests on the people, the faculty, staff, administration, students, and alumni who make up Ole Miss. Just as Aristotle walked beside his pupils on their quest for knowledge, so today Ole Miss professors accompany their students on the same journey. These mentors, these modern-day Aristotles, through their constant questions, much-maligned examinations, and friendly conversations hold the key to growth not only for the student but also for themselves. Whether in spirited classroom discussions, on leisurely strolls through the Grove, or at local gathering places like the Hoka, students and faculty can be found in discourse, the key to education, the key to youth. And like the groves of ancient Greece, Oxford and the University, though set in the peaks and valleys of North Mississippi's hills, stir comparisons to ancient Greek ideals of pastoral beauty. Just as the ancient Greeks were struck by the beauty found in nature, so we are struck by the beauty of the Ole Miss campus — the Grove on a cool fall afternoon, the sunlight streaming through the burnished reds and golds of the chameleon-like trees; or the Circle in the spring, fresh, crisp air, lush greens carpeting the ground, brilliant pinks blanketing the trees; and the buildings themselves, the Lyceum, Ventress Hall, the Barnard Observatory, stately and imposing, each suggesting classical Greek architecture. But underneath this philosophical tradition and classical beauty lies a University on fire for the future, heading into the twenty-first century as a leader in the worlds of art, medicine, law, science, business, politics, and research of all kinds. Ole Miss is proud to claim a nationally recognized Service Journalism program, the Center for Telecommunications, the National Center for Physical Acoustics, excellent Law and Medical schools, and a new Super Computing System. Ole Miss graduates excel in every walk of life — business, education, and politics among others. Their sojourn at the University challenged these men and women to be more, to ask more, to think more. And today Ole Miss persistently pursues this mission as close to 9000 undergraduates experience all that is Ole Miss — her history, her beauty, her scholastic tradition. History has not burdened the University; rather it has nurtured a University where tradition does not limit but instead responds to the demands of modern life. Ole Miss — a lifetime of achievement with a vision for the future.

by: Robin Bounds

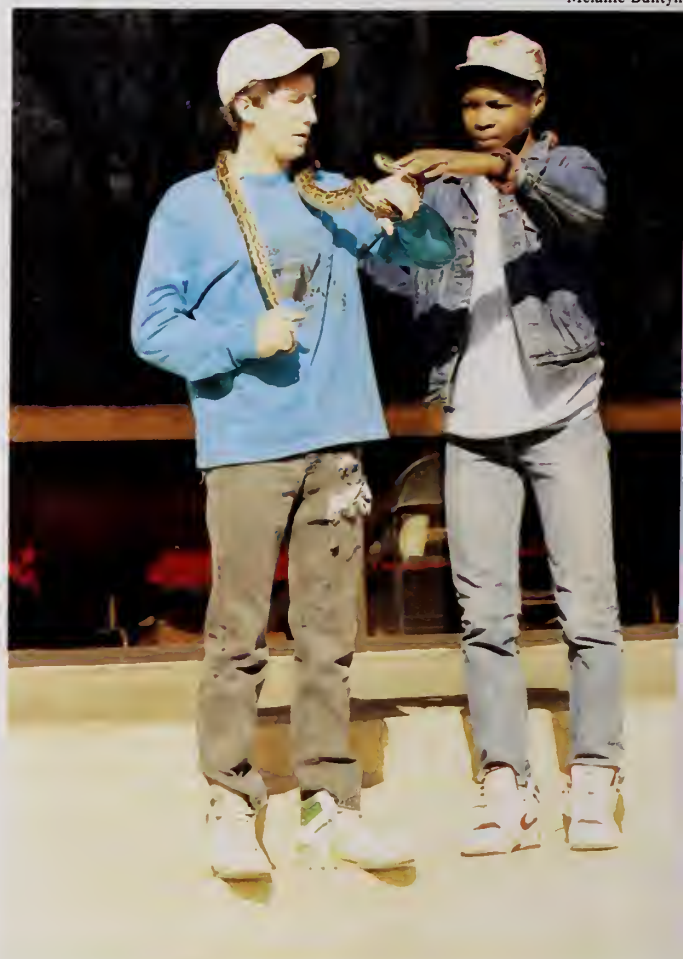

Ole Miss is made up of an eclectic mix of personalities and perspectives. Greeks co-exist with independents, long-held traditions still survive in the midst of new ideas, and most every classroom has an equal balance of bow heads and Dead Heads. This election year has shown that everyone at Ole Miss has an opinion, political and otherwise. The College Republicans and University Democrats battled for their candidates through the guises of guest speakers and mock elections. Even Ron Shapiro got into the political groove with his Anyone For The Greek Besides Me? party at the Hoka. But political opinions aren't the only ones expressed by the people who make up Ole Miss. The University is known for its great parties, academics, and cultural heritage. While there are those that insist on keeping these aspects separate (perhaps even ignoring one or two of them), most Ole Miss students reflect a meshing of the three. Somehow studying at the library, going to Happy Hour at Syd & Harry's, roadtripping from Thursday until Monday morning, and listening to Son Thomas' Delta Blues at the Hoka fit together nicely. This intangible, eclectic feeling one finds here is the spirit of the people that are Ole Miss.

Ole Miss is a place; but for a place to have meaning and for a place to be something more than merely a dot on a map, the place must be inhabited by people living out their lives making a mark on each other. The marks left by others are what give a place vitality. It is the impressions carried from that place that maintain its livelihood. As a child, I was surrounded by people who carried with them the mark of Ole Miss. There is something about human nature that causes all to seek out some reference of identification. As children we most readily identify with our parents. In fact, we bear their name as one source of our identity. It didn't take long for me to realize that a part of my father's identity was closely tied to the impact Ole Miss had had upon his life. Nor did it take long for me to realize there was something about this place — Ole Miss — that lured my grandfather back decades after his graduation . . . something about merely mentioning the name of Ole Miss that caused a spark and arousal in my grandfather when he was a bedridden patient lying listlessly in a hospital bed. There was something about this place that evoked tears and anger in my older brother when Rebel football suffered a loss. As a child, there was a sense of wonderment when I attended Ole Miss football games here on campus. What stirred people to show up in mass donned in red and blue apparel?

Initially, my fondness for Ole Miss resulted from my identification and support of that which was valued by those whom I most admired and respected. That is the means by which traditions are started — as the value of one generation is passed to the next and then on to the next. However, in order for these kinds of traditions to be perpetuated, each generation must at some point examine the values being passed down; the values must somehow become real to that generation. My affection for Ole Miss no longer stems solely from an identification I have with the values of members of my family, but instead it comes from my having been marked by the people in this place. Because of these marks, I too will be able to pass down the spirit of Ole Miss to future generations.

Activities at Ole Miss seem to peak during football season. From Thursday's pep rally to the winding down of the frat parties in the early hours of Sunday morning, the campus and Oxford are the site for a continuous social activity. Some would say a major PARTY!!

The cheerleaders highlight the weekly pep rallies on the Square, in the Grove, or at the stadium in Jackson and for many the party begins on Thursday.

Friday night students flock to fraternity row where the hottest bands rock the campus. Not only do the students get fired up about the game, alumni and their families swarm from all over the south in recreational vehicles. Late Friday night the UPD task force allows cars to be parked and spots saved for Saturday's crowd. By late morning the Grove, Circle and every available spot on campus is draped in red and blue as families and friends share in what has become tradition at Ole Miss — tailgating. The football team marches to the fieldhouse, the Pride of the South makes its way to the stadium, and gradually parents, children, students, alumni, and rival fans proceed to Vaught-Hemingway stadium for the kick-off. The roar of "Hotty Toddy" and the flapping of thousands of flags signify that the Rebels are once again at play.

After the game, win or lose, the bands play and the students have fun. It's the time to see and be seen. Classes are forgotten and worries are postponed. Otherwise it wouldn't be Ole Miss.

The style of Ole Miss can often be seen in the style of her students. Visitors are quick to notice the pride and distinct personalities that are represented through the clothes Ole Miss students choose to don.

Football season comes but once a year and the festive atmosphere leads coeds to cheer the Rebels to victory dressed in their best. Ann Klein, Ralph Lauren, and Ruff Hewn casual wear add to the fall array of colors. The male complements of this feminine fashion show are the starched oxford and paisley tie, topping off khakis and white bucks.

A new resolve, however, governs students the following Monday — comfort. Faded, ripped, or cut-off Levis know no gender boundary. Hightops for the guys and Cole Haan boots for the girls are often the only separation of the sexes. Then when the sun sets and the moon takes its place, the same group of undergraduates step out in style to their favorite evening activity. From brushed cotton to clingy knits, young ladies don their Unisa flats and Claiborne accessories to join their dates dressed in J. Crew sportswear and Girbaud jeans.

Ole Miss is not limited to just one fashion style, however; the variation is as limitless as the personality who chooses it. Individuality is proclaimed through hairstyles and shoes, accessories and labels. Personal preference rules when it comes to fashion in the life of Ole Miss students.

No matter what the time of year a certain beauty enfolds the halls of the University of Mississippi. Each school year begins in the sultry heat of August as students pour onto the campus and into Oxford. Even with the heat, Ole Miss' lush greenery lasts until the subtle change to autumn. As the temperature drops slightly, a golden glow highlights the ever present beauty. The leaves change from green to yellow to red to finally brown before becoming a blanket to protect from the winter chill that soon follows. With bare trees and no flowers, the stately architecture that is unveiled gives a sense of respect — a feeling of elegant grandeur. When nature chooses, a blanket of snow covers the historic paths and as if by metamorphosis, the campus is transformed for a short time into a sparkling wonderland. Spring eagerly awaits her annual chance to wave her wand of newness, bringing sprouts of grass and new budding leaves followed by flowers and blossoms in a rainbow of colors. Not only does Ole Miss have beauty, her people are beautiful. Recognized for numerous pageant winners, Miss Americas, and lovely coeds, the student body reflects a degree of beauty not often found in a single institution. Ole Miss' students are also beautiful inside. Smiles greet one another on sidewalks, in the hallway, and across the room on the faces of friends and acquaintances. Unique in many ways, Ole Miss is truly set apart by her beauty. All who experience a part of this uniqueness, carry with them an impression with which to associate Ole Miss.

Student Life

Character for the rest of your life

As we embark on life as students, we are affected by the people we meet and by the controversies and circumstances that surround each day. We are forced to weigh priorities and determine what will shape individual outlooks on life. From national events to daily occurrences, we establish a basis on which we form the perceptions of our future. Student life is a conglomeration of our experiences at Ole Miss.

Dixie Week 1988

Ole Miss students abandon books for seven straight days for a chance to experience good ol' Dixie culture

The week of April 18th through the 24th served as "Dixie Week 1988" for the Ole Miss campus. Students used the week as an opportunity to blow off some steam, relax, and have a good ol'time for seven straight days after cramming for midterm exams. The Student Programming Board attempted to make Dixie Week a truly campus-wide affair while retaining the original concept of what a "Dixie Week" should be. The latter goal was achieved through having many southern-oriented activities and performers on hand.

Music served as a major part of Dixie Week. The steps of the Union served as the stage for acoustical musicians such as Chet Lott and David Cook, Scott Strickland, and Steve Moore. On Tuesday evening, Dash Riprock was the opening band for Guadalcanal Diary, who performed in Fulton Chapel. The 2 Beans, members of the group Beanland, performed in the Grove on Wednesday night. The Grove also served as the backdrop for Reba and the Portables and "King of the Blues" B.B. King, who performed on Thursday.

Athletic events also played a great role in the week's festivities. The Dixie Week '88 Olympics included events such as volleyball, tug-of-war, and a bicycle race. A frisbee golf tournament was also included in the week's athletic events. The Dixie Week golf tournament at the Ole Miss Golf Club ended the athletic events on Sunday.

Dixie Week '88 was not without its purely social events which, as usual, included fun as well as food. The social events ranged from a "Dixie Week Comedy Laugh-Off" hosted by Gil Eagles, world famous hypnotist, to a moonlight picnic in the Grove. On Tuesday, April 19, Alexander's and Chantilly Lace hosted an ice cream social/fashion show with the theme "Life's a Beach". On Wednesday evening, the movie "Roxanne" was shown in conjunction with the moonlight picnic. On Thursday and Friday, barbeque was the food of the day, with the senior class and Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity, respectively, hosting dinners. The proceeds of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon cookout went to Habitat for Humanity. The week's events were capped off by the traditional Red/Blue football game in Vaught-Hemingway Stadium. Although many students longed for the traditional Shrimp and Beer blow-out at Sardis, outlawed since 1984, Dixie Week 1988 proved to be an overwhelming success.

The 1988 Artist Series began with two performances by the highly acclaimed National Players. The troupe of traveling thespians performed Shakespeare's most "human" tragedy "Othello" on January 27 and also the thriller "Dracula" on January 28. Leon Bates, former winner of the National Association of Negro Musicians Competition, treated Ole Miss to an evening of classical and contemporary piano selections on February 18. On March 21, the Ballet Hispanico of New York performed classical Spanish dance flamenco combined with modern dance and jazz to the delight of a large Ole Miss audience. Masterplayers Chamber Orchestra, a group composed of seventeen of Europe's finest musicians, demonstrated their incredible talent on April 14. Musica Antiqua Koln, the leading Baroque Chamber music group on the international concert scene, performed October 13. The group, which was founded by violin master Reinhard Goebel, is known for the authenticity of its old instruments and musical wit, as well as its astonishing virtuosity. The Tchaikovsky Chamber Orchestra, under the direction of Lazar Gosman, took to the stage November 15. The group, which was the subject of a full-length documentary film, is acclaimed for its "luxurious, passionate, and golden" sound. Three-time Grammy nominee known as America's foremost pianist, Ruth Laredo, also performed in addition to the Chamber Orchestra. The Artist Series season ended with the performance of the holiday classic "The Nutcracker" by Ballet South on November 29. The Ballet was directed by former international ballerina, Dame Sonia Arova. Adding a special touch, Oxford and University children participated in this magical interpretation of the season's favorite.

Changes

What may seem an inconvenience today will mean a face-lift for Ole Miss tomorrow

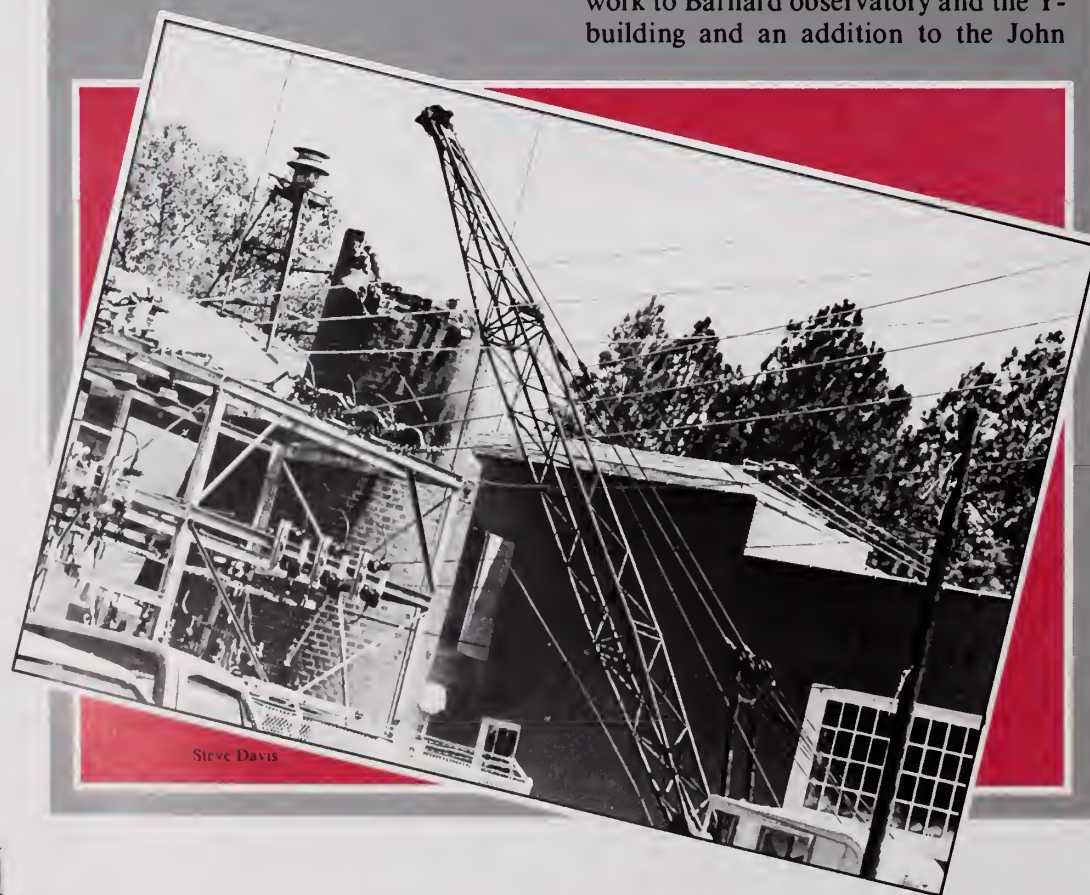

Cranes, concrete trucks, and piles of dirt were just a few of the sights Ole Miss students returned to this fall. From the rebuilding of the Baptist Student's Union to a new baseball stadium, the campus is receiving a facelift. Renovations are underway on the site that will be the home for the new Cyber 205 supercomputer. The computer will be housed in Powers Hall, an unused dormitory changed into an office building. Traffic on campus was detoured around wrecking crews as the physical plant removed several smokestacks from an obsolete boiler system. Many streets on campus were closed for days at a time this fall when the Physical Plant dug up parts of the streets to replace heating and cooling systems in some of the older buildings. During football season, several skyboxes and a new pressbox were added to Vaught-Hemingway stadium. Reconstruction of the Law School began after a fire in April, 1988 which caused extensive smoke and water damage over most of the fifth floor of the school.

The end of all of the dirt, detours, and trucks does not seem to be near. For safety reasons, the school is planning to renovate the foundation, heating and cooling systems and faulty electrical systems of the Lyceum. During this time most of the administrative offices in the Lyceum will be moved to the Old Gym. However, that building first requires a facelift and renovations to change it from a one to a two story building. Other construction projects include exterior work to Barnard observatory and the Y-building and an addition to the John Davis Williams library. The plans to build a Fine Arts theatre, a new Student Health Center, and the Center for Technological Development of Natural Products are not yet complete. In the future, there will also be additions to the Business School, Pharmacy School, the Library, and the Law Center.

Summer Showcase

The 1988 annual Festival of Southern Theatre/Summer Showcase reached new heights at Ole Miss with the production of five smash hits.

Since its inception four years ago, the Festival of Southern Theatre has grown to be a great event for Ole Miss as well as one of interest internationally. Festival '88 consisted of three original plays with Southern themes which won the annual contest sponsored by the university. This year's overall winner was "Kingfish!" by Jeff Frankel and John Franceschina. The musical, which centered around the life of Louisiana's colorful governor Huey Long, was performed July 14 and 15. On July 16, Rebecca Gilman's contemporary drama "The Land of Little Horses" was performed. The play focused on an eccentric Southern family. "A Shattering of Glass" by W.A. Sessions was a meaningful look at the lives of people in a small South Carolina town immediately after the end of World War II. It was performed July 17.

Summer Showcase, which includes the festival winners, also performed two other popular plays. The showcase officially opened the season July 23-25 with "Noises Off", a delightfully wacky English farce. The play, written by Michael Frayn, reveals the happenings backstage of an actual production.

A showcase with incredible talent in acting, direction, and production ended with "The Mystery of Edwin Droud" by Rupert Holmes. The bright and original musical ended the season July 28-30.

All-Nighters

Students Discover That Frustration, Delirium, and Panic are the Results of Procrastination

What do you do the day before the history midterm on the 900-page novel you have yet to read? Let's face it. An all-nighter is the only solution.

The world of an all-nighter is a realm of cold pizza, delivered late and stuck to the top of the box, and little white pills in boxes that defiantly proclaim "SAFE AS COFFEE". How safe is coffee, anyway?

Though there is no set of instructions to follow, most all-nighters are alike. The first phase of a normal cramming session is one of complete frustration. You have finally realized that you should have studied for that big test at 9 a.m. tomorrow instead of going to Forrester's. Not to worry, there are still eight hours left. After attempting to study for a short while, some people find it calming to throw open their window and scream to the world, "I HATE SCHOOL! WHY DID I WAIT SO LONG TO START STUDYING FOR THIS @#%$&*! TEST?"

Pros call it delirium: the phase of an all-nighter that begins around the fourth hour of continuous cramming. You know it has arrived when you are mysteriously compelled to climb up on your desk and spin in circles, or jump up and down on your roommate's bed while she is sleeping or maybe she's just trying to sleep with an obnoxious study fiend in the room. The arrival of this phase is the signal to begin the hourly run to Tastee's for donut holes — possibly a sugar fix? Occasionally during delirium, you catch yourself pondering things like: Why are we on this planet? ... Now, what is the speed of light? ... "i" before "e" except after what letter? ... How much caffeine really is in a gallon of coffee? ... I think I would be happy as a Wal-mart greeter. Why don't I just quit college?..I'll bet I'm the only person on campus studying tonight ... That clock can't be right ...

The final stage of the all nighter is the stage of revolt. In this blurred state, you finally understand that your professor is on an evil quest to gain control of the world. Why else would he schedule a test on Friday, the day after Thursday, the day of the happy hour that usually lasts for the duration? Finally, around 4:30 a.m., even the most determined student gives up trying to understand the history of the world and takes a short nap before the test.

Some students claim they have never pulled one, but all-nighters are a fact of college life. Sooner or later, you just might have to pull one yourself. It's no fun. It's not even slightly amusing. It is a walk on the weird side, an occurrence that everyone should experience at least once before graduation — the all nighter.

Religious Life

Students Seek Spiritual Growth and Guidance Through Religious Organizations Which Focus on Individual Needs

Ole Miss in the past has not been known for such things as religious life, but as is evidenced by the number of organizations on campus, it is a very real part of the lives of many students. From Jewish to Protestant, Catholic to Moslem, religious organizations at Ole Miss include Christian denominations, interdenominational groups and other religions.

These organizations include: Baptist Student Union, Campus Crusade for Christ, Reformed University Fellowship, Black Student Ministry, Christian Science Organization, University Christians, Episcopal Students, Fellowship of Christian Athletes, Church of Latter

Day Saints Student Organization, Lutheran Student Organization, Moslem Student Organization, Navigators, Pentecostal Youth Fellowship, Wesley Foundation, Covenant Fellowship, Westminster Fellowship, Assembly of God (Chi Alpha), and Catholic Campus Ministry can be found on campus or within walking distance of campus. Many groups have offices in the Y-building. Others have their own building or they meet in homes, churches, or, in some cases, in different fraternity or sorority houses.

The focus of each organization varies from discipleship, to evangelism, to fellowship and bible study. Whatever the emphasis, each organization fills a different role and meets the needs of its own group. Many of these organizations on campus seek to share Christ or introduce Christ to those who don't know Him. Others worship in their own unique ways depending on their particular belief. Off-campus ministries such as volunteer service at the North Mississippi Retardation Center, nursing home visitation, and tutoring at childrens' villages are a big part of some organizations. Other groups try to serve international students by meeting the special needs they have. Two organizations have song groups that travel to local churches — The Black Student Union Choir and the "Gift of Song" of the Baptist Student Union.

Most groups meet weekly for fellowship, devotionals, or Bible study. Some groups have weekly communion. There are also many individual small group Bible studies that meet in dorm rooms or fraternity or sorority houses.

Groups with similar interests and focus join in ministry by bringing guest speakers to campus and by sponsoring Favorite Faculty Breakfasts. These are methods of reaching people who have not been involved in a religious organization. There is also a joint prayer time that focuses on the Christian witness. It is held weeknights at 10:15 in the Y-building for anyone interested in coming.

Other activities include semester retreats, conferences, conventions, and mission programs sponsored by individual groups.

Ole Randy?

Movie transformation generates sense of awe and excitement as students and Oxford residents have a chance at stardom.

In April, 1988, the campus of the University of Mississippi looked more like the same campus did back in 1955. The Lyceum was transformed into the main building of Randolph University, which is the fictitious college in "The Heart of Dixie", a movie that was filmed on campus and in surrounding areas. The movie, which stars Ally Sheedy and Treat Williams, is a story about a young woman who becomes involved in racial issues during the Civil Rights Movement. Being the editor of the school paper she (Sheedy) meets an Associated Press photographer (Williams). The racial issues and the photographer drastically affect her life and her ways of thinking. The movie is to be released in the spring of 1989.

The director, Marty Davidson, and producers tried to involve the students of Ole Miss in many ways. Students were chosen as extras, stand-ins, people in crowd scenes, and were used to help on the set. Many extras were not paid, but when interviewed thought the experience was well worth all of the time and work. Some students were interested in gaining experience in being in movies, some just to say they were in a movie, and still more were just in it to try to meet the stars. A casting member said that of the more than 2000 member cast, about one half were Ole Miss students.

While the movie provided experience in acting for some, and "just something to do" for others, after a while it became inconvenient for most university students. The circle was completely blocked off to prevent traffic from interfering with filming. The Lyceum was sometimes totally closed to students during filming. The library was also closed at times. The many people that congregated to watch and look for stars also disrupted normal college life and even some classes. When the movie started being filmed, it was an exciting new experience. By the time it was over, most everyone was glad to get things back to normal.

After one month, Ole Randy was turned back into Ole Miss. While this was a disappointment to some, it was a joy to others. But no one can deny the fact that it was an experience never to be forgotten. This is especially true for those who worked directly with the cast and crew of "The Heart of Dixie".

Student Union

The Union is Nucleus Around
Which Student Life Revolves

Whether to check mail or grab a quick meal, almost all Ole Miss students run through the Student Union at least once a day.

The Union is home to the University Post Office. Students meticulously check mail every day hoping for letters or for those magical yellow slips signifying a care package from home or a new shirt ordered from L.L. Bean. But day after day, the only people that keep in touch are Dominos and Walmart.

The Ole Miss bookstore is also located in the Union. It opens early for all those people who forget to buy a blue book for their eight o'clock exam. The bookstore is infamous for buying back textbooks as cheaply as possible, then reselling them at almost new book cost. However, it does have unusual posters, hard-to-find tapes, and an endless list of supplies that every student needs.

Did you know that there's a game-room in the Union? Surprises await on every floor.

Many students eat their meals at The Colonel's Place. One side serves cafeteria style, while the other side offers a varying fast food menu.

Student organization meetings are usually in the Union. Who can ever forget Union 404 A & B? These meeting rooms are booked solid before the semester even begins.

Craft sales are a common occurrence on the second floor. Before Christmas, there was a huge arts and crafts sale that helped to fill many Christmas lists. A variety of wood, clay, or fabric items could be found. Other shows included student painting sales and a Mexican jewelry sale.

During elections, students campaigning for their candidates can be found hanging around the outside of the Union. Inside, others are waiting in lines to vote.

Students can be found sitting on the "fuzzy blocks", out at the patio tables, or on the front steps waiting for their next class.

Perhaps to get an Icee between classes or to get a ticket from the ticket office, going to the Student Union fills some need for all students.

Rituals

Homecoming provided a day for students, past and present, to renew old acquaintances and possibly make a few new ones.

"Would you like to go to Homecoming with me?" — The nine words an Ole Miss coed wants most to hear each fall. Homecoming at Ole Miss is more than a game. It's the social event of the season. Having the date of your choice for Homecoming is second only to getting a date at all.

"I'd love to."

When a girl consents to go to Homecoming, she agrees to more than the game. The traditional Homecoming celebration includes two nights of hardcore partying with brunches and tailgating in between.

Friday night (or Thursday for many) starts Homecoming weekend. Bands such as the Relaxations, Change to Den, The Crime, and the Malemen compete for hordes of students party-hopping on fraternity row. Forrester's,

The Gin, and Syd's are also packed. The goal of Friday is as much dancing, drinking, and other entertainment as can possibly be squeezed into one night. This is why Saturday morning begins with water, aspirins, and a hangover. Ole Miss students valiantly rise early to prepare for more festivities.

On Saturday, the male is responsible for a mum, a coat and tie, and reasonably good behavior. The girl is responsible for a smile and a nice dress.

Homecoming wouldn't be Homecoming if it weren't for hundreds of tailgaters covering the Grove. Children play, students visit, alumni drink and reminisce about when they were at Ole Miss. Moms serve everything from chicken on paper to caviar on china and crystal. Dads discuss the possibilities of Ole Miss beating Tulane.

For some, tailgating falls between brunch at her house and his house. Then comes the game . . .

"Hotty Toddy! . . . Pledge, go get me a Coke in one of those squeezer things . . . Come on Mark, throw it . . . Check out the big flag up on the stick . . . Is that guy going to run across the field this game? . . . Why is it so cold? . . . Get it together, Brewer, we can't lose to Tulane . . . Hey, Dude, how's it goin'? . . . Shove that ball across that line, shove that ball across that line, shove it! . . . Boo, boo . . . Boo, boo . . . I'll bet those folks in the skyboxes are partying . . . That big cake reminds me of the one in Animal House! . . . Who did they say won the float contest? . . . Hotty Toddy, gosh-a-mighty . . ."

After the game is nap time. This is partly because traffic makes going anywhere but home almost impossible. Hardcore fans go back to the Grove, but many would like to quietly collapse until the Saturday night partying begins.

"The bands start at 9:00. It's outside, so you should bring a jacket."

Hungover and tired, Ole Miss still parties until the wee hours of Sunday morning. Bands play until 1:00 when Daddy Turner pulls the plug, then tape decks go on in stereos across the campus.

"I'll call you tomorrow."

"After all, the Tennessee game is only a week away."

Student individuality cries out
"Give Me My Space!"

Most of us have fond memories of that 12x15 cubicle, the almighty dorm room. Remember the first time you opened the graffiti-covered door to have all of your hopes and dreams dashed by hundreds of staring, white cement blocks. Somehow, a couple of posters, a carpet, and a few other choice items turned the hellhole into something livable. After nine months, everyone feels strong attachments to the only home they have on campus. Colorful friends are always close by. Remember the guys down the hall who tried to line their walls with empty beer cans. Or the R.A. who threw firecrackers under doors when she was off-duty. However, there are some drawbacks to dorm life. The guys next door get drunk every night. Another neighbor always has an "incredibly horrible" test to study for and asks you to stop being so obnoxious and to turn down the music. There is only so much personal stuff you can cram into half of a cubicle. Air conditioning in February is not for everyone. As a freshman, you never forget that you have no other choice but to live in a strictly regulated environment. "Will they ever let us grow up?"

For some, fraternity or sorority houses are the home-away-from-home. Well-rounded, actually well-rounding, meals are only a few steps away. These houses are noisy and always partying. A frat house is no place to study on a Thursday night. No one is ever surprised to find their room occupied by T.V.-watching, non-T.V.-owning brothers or sisters; pity those who own VCRs or microwaves. Someone always borrows your new red shirt or your coffee pot, without asking of course, just when you need it. Practical jokers sneak into your room and change your conservative answering machine message into something quite tasteless. Life in a Greek house is like a giant slumber party year round.

Apartments are another alternative from which to choose your residence. They offer that elusive substance — freedom. There is no R.A. or house-mother to keep track of you. There is even the possibility of your own bedroom! Students are decorating geniuses and can do wonders with two bedrooms, a bathroom, and the kitchen-dining-guest bedroom combination. To be comfortable in your new home, dishes and furniture must be gathered. Maybe that green and yellow plaid herculon sofa Mom And Dad store in the attic; or that seashell lamp Grandpa hates so much. In some apartments, pets are allowed. Fluffy or Rover will be at home here, too. Apartment living can be a most enjoyable experience.

Married student housing, located on campus, was originally built for GI's with families returning to school. Ahh, the good ol' days.

Condominiums, the stuff of dreams for university students, are only feasible if Pop can afford the investment. There are no holds on decorating your condo; paint it green with purple and orange stripes if you desire. Try to convince good ol' Pop that it is a worthwhile investment; he can rent it out for years to come after you finish wrecking it.

Somewhere at Ole Miss there is a space for everyone.

Official Non-Alcoholic Drink of Ole Miss

The search for the Official Beverage of Ole Miss ended recently when the Delta Gamma Sorority won the Non-Alcoholic Drink contest sponsored by the Bessie Speed Center and BACCUS. The drink, The Rebel Rouser, is a sweet carbonated fruit punch. The simple instructions for a party of 200 are as follows:

8 quarts ginger ale
3 quarts Hawaiian fruit punch
2 quarts pineapple juice
2 large cans frozen orange juice
2 1/2 gallons orange sherbert ice cubes
food coloring

Mix together Hawaiian punch, pineapple juice, frozen orange juice (diluted according to directions on can), and food coloring. Put ice cubes in bottom of punch bowl, then add sherbert on top of ice cubes. Pour previously mixed punch mixture over this. Finally, add ginger ale two quarts at a time, pouring down the side of the punch bowl. Do not open ginger ale until ready to use. Add whipped cream and a cherry on top. Serve in chilled cups.

Awareness of the effects of alcohol and drugs has become a priority concern at Ole Miss among faculty and students alike. The Bessie S. Speed Center for Alcohol and Drug Education is designed to help individuals live their lives without chemical dependency using a preventive education program along with counseling. The Center has become a key factor in educating students.

In promoting National Collegiate Alcohol and Drug Awareness Week during October, the Bessie Speed Center sponsored a series of events such as a drinking and driving demonstration. Students leaders were asked to drink alcohol and then drive an obstacle course. This demo was also sponsored by BACCUS (Boosting Alcohol Consciousness Concerning the Health of University Students), a new active student organization that follows the philosophy of the Bessie Speed Center.

Other events during the week were a 5k Run/Walk, in which over one hundred people participated, and a super mixer held in the Grove featuring The Refugees. The fun event was culminated with the selection of a non-alcoholic drink to be designated the official beverage of Ole Miss.

On October 16, Lonise Bias, mother of former star athlete Len Bias, who died in 1986 as a result of cocaine use, spoke to students in order to kick off National Collegiate Alcohol and Drug Awareness Week. Her ultimate goal was to impress upon students that anyone can be affected negatively by drugs or alcohol.

Sgt. Pete Collins of the Mississippi Highway Patrol spoke to students on October 7 concerning the effects of alcohol abuse.

The Bessie Speed Center, as well as the Kappa Alpha Order, sponsored Sgt. Collins.

Kelly Piner, a graduate psychology student and counselor at the center, says, "We are accomplishing something here at Ole Miss. We are helping people every day. People are just beginning to open their eyes to the dangers involved with drugs and alcohol. Thank goodness we are here to guide and help when we can."

Pageantry

Glamorous Co-eds and Gaudy Houseboys Set the Stage for Ole Miss Pageantry

The Miss University Pageant is the preliminary of the Miss Mississippi/Miss America pageant. Fifty percent of a contestant's score is determined by her talent. The other fifty percent is divided between an interview, poise, and appearance. This year's Miss University is Dana Dalton, a junior from Corinth. She was sponsored by the Delta Delta Delta sorority. First-runner up was Mitzi Mullins, sponsored by Kappa Delta sorority. Second runner-up was Missy Hurdle, sponsored by Delta Gamma sorority. Third-runner up was Lisa Cole, sponsored by Pi Beta Phi sorority. Fourth runner-up was Jana Wadsworth, sponsored by Delta Gamma sorority.

The University of Mississippi's Parade of Beauties was held November 8 in Fulton Chapel. Most Beautiful and ten beauties were chosen from among 85 contestants. Each sorority and fraternity could sponsor up to ten contestants. Other students could enter after obtaining a sponsor. Most Beautiful 1988 is Janie Holman, a sophomore interior design major from Jackson.

Contestants in the university's Best Dressed pageant were judged on formal and casual wear, figure, posture, carriage, poise, and appearance. Heidi Hoefer, a banking and finance major from Laramie, Wyoming, was this year's winner. Heidi was sponsored by Chi Omega sorority. First alternate to the title was Ashley Ross, sponsored by Delta Gamma, followed by second alternate Jane Anne Roser, Delta Gamma; third alternate Cassie Jones, Phi Kappa Tau; fourth alternate Julie Meisburg, Kappa Alpha Theta; fifth alternate Amanda Lehman, Pi Beta Phi; sixth alternate Allison Taylor, Delta Delta Delta; seventh alternate Lucy Pittman, Kappa Delta; eighth alternate Michelle Hyver, Alpha Omicron Pi; and ninth alternate Jennifer Cole, Kappa Kappa Gamma.

The Houseboy Beauty Pageant is a fundraiser for the United Way. Sorority houseboys dress as girls and compete for glory, but no big prizes. The pageant is divided into three categories: talent, formal wear, and an onstage interview. Contestants also participate in a parade of costumes where each dressed as their sponsor's mascot. This year's winner was Phil McCarty, sponsored by Kappa Alpha Theta. First alternate was Jeff Palmer, sponsored by Alpha Omicron Pi. Second alternate was William Stein, sponsored by Alpha Delta Pi. Other contestants were Larry Gettys, Delta Delta Delta; Tommy Hayden, Chi Omega; Jay Jung, Pi Beta Phi; Darrin Raybourn, Kappa Kappa Gamma; and Erik Richardson, Kappa Delta.

Retreat

The Grove mysteriously attracts people from all walks of life to an environment of simple creativity.

Steve Davis

Somehow every person who has heard of Ole Miss has heard of the Grove. No other Mississippi university has anything on their campus quite like the Grove. It is the core of Ole Miss and student activity; and yet it is incredibly pure in its beauty. Somewhere along the line it became a symbol of Ole Miss, perhaps the epitome of student life. The Grove mysteriously lures people to it and thrives on life.

It is famous for tailgating parties at home football games, but that is not its only purpose. The Grove is rarely bare or empty as people like to study there, enjoying the gentle breeze. It is always the setting for a great frisbee game, for a fun picnic, or for walking the dog. Students are often found sleeping in the Grove on picnic tables and on blankets in the patches of sunlight. Sweethearts meet there to whisper of the beauty of the Grove. It is also a scene for afternoon pep rallies and evening concerts. Excited voices seem to swell in the Grove.

As the seasons change, the beauty of the Grove does not fade. The intensity of the autumn colors and the silent cold beauty of the winter still entice students to the Grove. It cannot be denied of its people.

The Grove is revered by all who have had anything to do with Ole Miss. Alumni will continue to migrate back to enjoy its unique beauty and students will continue to smile as they walk through it on their way to class.

Perhaps the Grove has become a traditional symbol of Ole Miss. However, it is also a reality that is something to be proud of today and hopefully will be by generations of Rebels who run, skip and hop across its beloved soil.

Night Life

Students Search for Entertainment
When the Sun Goes Down.

Some go the movies, whether to the Hoka or to a more traditional theatre. The Hoka Theatre is unique in and of itself. It specializes in art films or movies that have developed a following, like "Rocky Horror". The Hoka is also a favorite of students for cheesecake, hot fudge pie and cinnamon coffee. The people who go there are from all walks of life. They wear jackets and ties or t-shirts and jeans. Some even show up barefoot. The Hoka has something for everyone.

Others occasionally choose bowling as nighttime entertainment. In addition to bowling and pool, Kiamie's, which has been around for decades, is always good for cheese-covered fries and a chat with

Mae Helen.

Some head for the bars. For a small town, Oxford is blessed with a variety of bars. Syd and Harry's is best known for its great food, blues bands, and a laid-back atmosphere. Syd's has a regular crowd that claim it as a second home. The largest bar in Oxford, J. W. Forrester's caters to all types. Forrester's was always packed Thursday afternoon for happy hour. A relatively new bar, Oxford Alley, with its great drink specials, is fast becoming an Ole Miss favorite. Ireland's, a favorite of the locals, provides a relaxed atmosphere to watch big screen T.V. or play a game of pool. Usually a peaceful bar away from the crowds, The Gin is known for its good food and a good table ... to dance on. Say Ladies Night and it's Off the Wall, which has the largest dance floor in Oxford. It is known for great Ladies Night specials. However, many students still venture north into Marshall County, home of Hotty Toddy's, Ole Miss' Sunday night honky-tonk.

Alliances

Ole Miss and Oxford Complement Each Other Socially and Culturally as Well as Economically.

The relationship between Oxford and Ole Miss is one of strength and importance. The small college town thrives off the university, its students, and its faculty. This can be confirmed by driving through Oxford and noting all of the store names beginning with "Rebel", "Ole Miss", or "University".

New businesses generally avoid modernizing their buildings. White columns, balconies, red brick or pastel paints prevail on campus and around Oxford.

The number of businesses in town has increased as the size of the university increases. Taco Bell, Hardees, Burger King and Tastee Donuts are some of the eating establishments that have been added to the Oxford area within the last two years, and the Downtown Grill opened for business in January of 1989. There are new clothing stores, dry cleaners, and numerous other services offered which stand as testimony to the amount of money students and faculty bring into the Oxford economy.

When the students are away for Christmas or summer vacation, many store owners are faced with tough times. Some businesses cut their hours, while others close completely. These are stores that depend almost entirely upon students as customers. Not only do they close because of poor business, many of the employees are students who take the time off to visit with their families.

International Students Add Culture to Ole Miss

Melanie Buntyn

Can you imagine living in a foreign country where you don't know anyone, can barely speak the language, and are not accustomed to the social norms?

This is a situation faced by many international students at the University of Mississippi. They come from different lands searching for a good education. They must adjust to a totally new country with different values, a different culture, and a different language. Foreign students leave behind their families for four years, or often longer if they chose to attend graduate school.

Most studied English at home from grammar books, but learning from a book and actually carrying on a conversation are two different things.

Attending college in America does have advantages over colleges in their own countries. One student said a degree from an American university would help him get a better job at home. Some students from underdeveloped countries chose to attend school in the U.S. because they feel they can learn a wider variety of skills here.

Many students from other countries are surprised at the freedoms Americans take for granted. One foreign student interviewed stated that in her country saying, "I believe the government is wrong," will result in your being arrested. Since she has grown accustomed to expressing her feelings more than before, she must watch closely what she says when she returns home.

Wah Foo Chan, a senior from Malaysia, has not gone home since he first came to the U.S. in 1987. When asked why he chose Ole Miss over different colleges, he said, "My country is very crowded. I like the rural area around campus." Chan was introduced to Ole Miss through MACEE, the Malaysian American Commission on Educational Exchange, a program designed to help students choose the right American college for their needs. Chan also considered Mississippi State and Alabama.

The Associated Student Body and the Office of International Affairs have organized programs throughout the year that have helped to relieve some of the homesickness felt by international students. A Chinese Magic Show and an International Festival were widely attended by both foreign students and Americans interested in other cultures. The Student Association of Singapore organized "Satay on the Grove", a Southeast Asian-style barbeque.

While trying to learn more about American culture and society, international students representing many different countries share the common bond of attempting to maintain their heritage.

Speakers

Political Leaders and Concerned Individuals
Expound on Issues of the State and the World

Several speakers were invited to lecture at the university during the year.

The University of Mississippi Law School hosted United States Supreme Court Justice Sandra Day O'Connor for the James McClure Memorial Lecture Series in Law. O'Connor spoke on "Federalism and Individual Freedom: Remembering the Ratification." She challenged law students to place less emphasis on monetary goals and more on helping people and solving legal problems.

Amanda Robbins

Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox spoke for the National Common Cause organization. Cox was appointed as the first special Watergate prosecutor, but was later fired by President Nixon for refusing to drop legal efforts to gather information about misconduct of White House officials. After his lecture he was honored by an autograph party for his book "The Court and The Constitution" at Square Books. A dinner in his honor was held afterwards to raise funds for Common Cause. Cox is a professor emeritus at the Harvard University School of Law.

Lonise Bias, mother of former University of Maryland basketball star Len Bias, spoke to a large Ole Miss crowd on the dangers of drug abuse. Her son Len died of cocaine use shortly after being drafted by the Boston Celtics. She urged students to learn more about the dangers of illicit drugs and sex. Bias was sponsored by the Bessie Speed Center for Drug and Alcohol Education, the Student Programming Board, Omicron Delta Kappa, Mortar Board, and the Office of Minority Affairs.

Numerous political candidates campaigned at the University of Mississippi this year. Senator Trent Lott and Wayne Dowdy, opponents for the U.S. Senatorial seat vacated by John C. Stennis, both spoke to large Oxford/University crowds. Lott was later elected to the position. Representative Mike Espy and his Republican opponent, Jack Coleman, also campaigned on campus. Espy, the incumbent, was re-elected to Congress.

Ole Miss

Way down south in Mississippi there's a spot that ever calls,
Where among the hills enfolded stand old Alma Mater's halls.
Where the trees lift high their branches to the whispering
Southern breeze,
There Ole Miss is calling, calling to our hearts' fond memories.

With united hearts we praise thee, all our loyalty is thine, and we hail thee, Alma Mater, may thy light forever shine;
May it grow brighter and brighter, and with deep affection true,
Our thoughts shall ever cluster 'round thee, dear Ole Red and Blue.

May thy fame throughout the nation, through thy sons and daughters grow;
May thy name forever waken in our hearts a tender glow.
May thy counsel and thy spirit ever keep us one in this,
That our own shall be thine honor now and ever, dear Ole

Features

Distinction for the rest of your life.

Ole Miss is in itself a place of distinction. There are those people, however, who stand above and beyond the ordinary whether it be as a beauty, a favorite among peers, or a representative of all that Ole Miss entails. Those who fit this definition will be remembered for years to come as a featured part of the university. These people are representatives of the uniqueness that differentiates Ole Miss in beauty, in character, and in style.

Wesley Walls

Serving as this years' Colonel Rebel is Wesley Walls, an engineering major from Pontotoc, MS. A member of the M-Club executive committee and a four year letterman in football, he truly exemplifies the true meaning of Colonel Reb. An academic All-SEC and a Southern Magazine Scholar, he was recently awarded the National Football Hall of Fame Scholarship. He was also chosen as the SEC Academic All-American.

Whitney Vann

This years Miss Ole Miss is Whitney Vann, a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority. She is a television broadcasting major from Glasgow, KY. A very visible face on campus over the years, she has been a junior varsity cheerleader, campus favorite, and serves as Channel 12 news anchor. A member of Sigma Tau Delta and Golden Key, she is also very active in the Student Programming Board. A Pike little sister, 1986 calendar girl, and top twenty-five beauty, it is easy to see how this very versatile beauty is a perfect choice for Miss Ole Miss.

Favorites

Margaret Pryor

Margaret Pryor, a junior business and marketing major from Jackson, MS, said she chose Ole Miss because, "the people were friendly and she felt accepted." Obviously others have been attracted to her own friendliness since she was recently elected president of Sigma Chi little sisters and chosen as a 1988 homecoming maid. A member of Phi Mu sorority, Margaret enjoys traveling and snowskiing.

Stacy Smith

Family tradition brought Stacy Smith to Ole Miss. She is a member of Delta Gamma sorority and she is a Kappa Sigma little sister. Stacy is a senior marketing major involved in College Republicans and AWS. She enjoys snowskiing, walking, and other outdoor activities.

Favorites

Beverly Chamblin

A junior accounting major from Jackson, MS, Beverly Chamblin is a definite favorite. As a member of Kappa Delta sorority she has served as both rush chairman and vice-president. As a Chancellor's Scholarship recipient, Beverly is a member of the honors program. She was chosen 1988 Sigma Chi sweetheart. Beverly is involved in Reformed University Fellowship and enjoys making friends from different places.

Katie Ferguson

Katie Ferguson, a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority, and former Sigma Alpha Epsilon sweetheart, has been a very active person on campus. A senior marketing major from Southaven, MS, she says Ole Miss has allowed her to make friends that will last for a lifetime. As a campus beauty, pike calendar girl, and 1987 Sigma Chi Derby Day queen, Katie is known on campus for her beauty.

Mitzi Mullins

A winning personality and bright smile attract everyone to Mitzi Mullins, a senior education major from Jackson, MS. She loves Ole Miss where she has served on various SPB and ASB committees. She has also been a top twenty-five campus beauty and first alternate to Miss University. Mitzi is the 1988 Kappa Sigma sweetheart and enjoys jogging and riding her bike.

Favorites

Sara Beth Baldwin

Sara Beth Baldwin, a junior from Norcross, GA, represents Ole Miss as a rebel recruiter and a match mate. A special education major, she is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority and Kappa Alpha little sisters. Sara Beth also serves on the Student Programming Board and is a member of College Republicans.

Shelly Sumrall

Shelly Sumrall came to Ole Miss because of its atmosphere and people. She is a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority and she is a Sigma Chi little sister. Shelly who enjoys drawing, is a junior art major from Laurel, MS. She says she really likes Ole Miss because of "the friends she has made here."

Favorites

Regal Niffenegger

Regal Niffenegger proved she was an Ole Miss Favorite when she was elected 1988 Judicial Council Chairman. A senior marketing major, Regal says of Ole Miss, "I like the size of the school and the friendly people." She is involved in various activities including Daily Mississippian photographer, Order of Omega, matchmate and Kappa Alpha Theta sorority.

Ouida Branum

1988 Senior Class Vice-President, Ouida Branum is a Fashion Merchandizing major from Montreat, NC. She is a member of Chi Omega sorority for which she serves as Activities Chairman, and she is the Ole Miss Spirit Committee Chairman. Ouida says, "Ole Miss offers the advantages of a large school, as well as the close-knit feeling of a smaller school." Some of her other activities include AWS, Kappa Omicron Phi, and Summer Orientation Leader.

Paige York

"Involved" would truly describe Paige York, junior favorite from Hattiesburg, MS. She is the newly elected President of Chi Omega sorority and has also served as Social Chairman. She is a Pike little siser and a 1989 Pike calender girl. Paige also is an ASB senator, a member of the Daily Mississippian staff, and a Channel 12 reporter.

Miss University 1988

Dana Dalton, a junior from Corinth was crowned Miss University 1988 on March 1 in Fulton Chapel. Dalton is a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority and represented Ole Miss in the Miss Mississippi pageant in Vicksburg in July. Dana says, "I really enjoy pageants. Loyalty for the rest of your life

Rebel teams are never without support and Rebel fans are never without excitement. Slam-dunks, touchdown passes, and grand slam homeruns combined with top-seeded tennis players and marathon runners create an atmosphere of challenges, defeats, and victories. From "Slow Dixie" and Hotty Toddy to the seventh inning stretch or the final seconds, athletics at Ole Miss provides memories that will last a lifetime.

Tough Schedule Leads to

Disappointing Season

Ole Miss fans were not the only people who were skeptical of the '88 football season even before the first game. Head coach Billy Brewer said, "I don't think this University has ever faced a tougher schedule. We start off with a traditional rivalry in Memphis State ... followed by four of the toughest anyone, anywhere will face — Florida, Alabama, Arkansas, and Georgia. If we can come out of those five alive, we'll feel good." The rest of the Rebel schedule could not be considered easy; other competitors included LSU, Tulane, Tennessee, and Mississippi State, and each of those teams beat the Rebels in '87. And if facing a rough schedule were not enough, the team was thin on both sides of the ball and was plagued with injuries.

However, there was a ray of hope in changes on the coaching staff as new leaders on both sides of the ball arrived to help the Rebels. Jim "Red" Parker, offensive coordinator at Delta State University in the Gulf South Conference last year, became the new offensive coordinator, and Robert Henry, formerly of Southern Mississippi, SMU, and the University of Tennessee, joined the staff as defensive coordinator.

The Rebels started off strong as they beat Memphis State 24-6 in Jackson, but their luck changed against their first SEC rival. The Rebels traveled back to Jackson to meet Florida where they were beaten 27-15. The Florida defense was number one in the SEC three out of the last four years, and, as Coach Brewer said, "They knew our audibles; they knew our hole numbers; they had done their homework. They were waiting for us."

The Rebels went back on the road to Little Rock where they lost to Arkansas 21-13. The Rebs hurt themselves by receiving eight penalties for 75 yards, five fumbles, and two interceptions. This game was the first game in the season where the Rebels faced a wishbone offense and an artificial surface. However, quarterback John Darnell held on to run for 56 yards and pass for 96 yards and two touchdowns. Lester Brinkley had a game high fourteen tackles.

Ole Miss traveled to Georgia for their second SEC game. Although the Rebs led at half-time, they could not move the ball offensively in the second half. The Rebel defense was worn out, and Georgia went on to win 36-12.

Back on the road for the fifth consecutive week, the Rebels went to Tuscaloosa to play Alabama at their homecoming. The Tide was the fourth opponent Ole Miss faced that was ranked in the nation's Top 20. The first half was scoreless, but the Rebels hung on and beat Alabama 22-12. That day marked the first time that Ole Miss had ever beaten Alabama in Tuscaloosa. It was also the first time since 1971 that Alabama was held to zero yards passing. They passed eleven times and completed none. Brewer said, "Before the game, I told our team I felt like we could win a number of ball games starting today. It's probably one of the biggest wins Ole Miss has ever experienced."

Ole Miss faced Arkansas State in the Rebels' first home game, which they hung on to win in the fourth quarter 25-22. The next week the Rebs were back on the road to play in their second homecoming game and score their third consecutive winning touchdown in the fourth quarter. Ole Miss won 36-20 and was ranked as the nation's top pass defense.

Ole Miss went to Baton Rouge next to play in LSU's homecoming game. The Rebels were emotionally and physically exhausted after playing so many road games and were unable to win against LSU. The Tigers won 31-20.

The Rebels' own homecoming was next as they finally returned to play at the newly renovated Vaught-Hemingway Stadium. The Rebs faced Tulane and self-destructed as they lost 14-9. With this loss, the Rebels also lost hopes of a bowl bid. However, Bryan Owen kicked three field goals that moved him past Hoppy Langly on the Rebels' all-time list. Owen's career total stood at 35 after the game.

Tennessee came to Oxford and destroyed all chances for Ole Miss to have a winning season. There was a first for Ole Miss and a second for the nation in this game. The UT place kicker prepared for the PAT. Stevon Moore blocked the kick, and Tony Bennett ran the ball for a two point defensive conversion. That score was the second in the season after the NCAA Division I-A rule was passed.

Ole Miss ended the season by recapturing the Egg Bowl and beating Mississippi State 33-6. Mark Young tied Archie Manning and Kent Austin for the most touchdown passes in his career at 31 as he completed 19 of 33 passes for 334 yards and three touchdowns. This moved Young to third place on the Rebel passing all time yardage list.

The Rebels finished the season a disappointing 5-6 overall, 3-4 in the SEC where they tied for sixth place. Three Rebels saw post-season play in the Blue-Grey game: Wesley Walls, Stevon Moore, and Rodney Lowe. Walls was selected to play in the East-West and Senior bowls but had to cancel because of injuries sustained in the Blue-Grey game. Moore played in the Hula Bowl as well.

Ole Miss head football coach Billy Brewer received a two year contract extension after finishing the disappointing '88 season. Brewer's record at Ole Miss stands at 31-33-3 including two trips to the Independence Bowl ('83 and '86). He was also twice named SEC Coach of the Year. At the beginning of the season, Brewer was asked to make the '88 Rebels more competitive and in a position to win games. Considering the obstacles the Rebels faced, Brewer fulfilled the request.

Wesley Walls Makes All-American

Wesley Walls has become a common name on the Ole Miss campus. The 6'5", 250-pound senior from Pontotoc started at both tight end and outside linebacker this season, but he concentrated more on his offensive game. He also played on special teams. His 32 pass receptions rank him second on the team, the highest total by a tight end in the SEC this season. In '88, Walls had 32 receptions for 368 yards and three touchdowns, three rushes for ten yards, one pass completion for 34 yards, five tackles, and one-and-a-half sacks.

The '88 season was Walls' first at tight end after playing three years at outside linebacker, and he is considered one of the best blocking tight ends in the nation. He was selected to the first string All-American team, and, as a result, he appeared on the Bob Hope Christmas Special. He also made a trip to New York as one of eleven National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame Scholar Athletes for 1988. He played in the Blue-Grey game and was asked to play in the East-West and Senior bowls but had to cancel because of injuries sustained in the Blue-Grey game.

Walls has received four letters at Ole Miss while he maintained a 3.39 GPA in engineering. He was also elected Colonel Rebel by the student body.

Jake's Hit Men Battle in 88

The 1988 Ole Miss baseball team fought a tough season ending with a 22-26 record. Coach Gibbs and his staff entered the season minus two All-SEC players from the 1987 season. They had only five seniors and a host of underclassmen returning. "Fans will have to get to the ballpark early this year so they can learn all the new names and faces we'll have," said Coach Gibbs. "I had trouble in the fall just trying to keep everybody straight. It will definitely be a new look for our team this year." Pitching proved to be the team's greatest asset with experienced pitchers like Darren Musslewhite and Matt Smith who led the team with 15 starts each. One of the most memorable occasions this year was the Ole Miss v. Mississippi State series in Starkville. The three games brought nearly 7500 fans to the ballpark in March. The Rebels shocked the favored Bulldogs winning the first game 2-1, but they dropped the last two and the series (2-1).

Coach Gibbs has often labeled the SEC as "the toughest baseball conference in the nation because of the level of play from each school," and he knew that the 1988 season would be no different. The other SEC teams provided the toughest competition as the Rebels ended the season with a 4-16 SEC record. However, in non-conference games the Rebels played well resulting in an 18-8 record.

In October, the team played the first game at the new 3,000 seat Oxford-University Stadium. The new home and new faces will continue the baseball tradition. If nothing else, the 1988 Rebels gained needed experience that will carry over into 1989

Young Team Expects To Fare Well

At the beginning of the 1989 season, the Rebels were faced with the loss of four lettermen including two starters. However, to combat that loss, seven starters returned this season, and a great group of newcomers prepared to help the Rebels out. Although the 89 Rebels are young, they are expected to play well.

The team leader this year is junior Gerald Glass. Glass played two seasons at Delta State University before transferring to Ole Miss. At Delta State he was named Gulf South Conference Freshman of the Year, and as a sophomore he was chosen GSC Player of the Year and chosen as NCAA Division II All-American. As a sophomore, Glass averaged 26.1 points and 12.5 rebounds per game. He also shot 60.5% from the field. At Ole Miss, Glass was picked as a pre-season All-SEC player.

Another returning Rebel starter is sophomore Tim Jumper, the 1988 SEC Freshman of the Year. Last season Jumper averaged 13.6 points, 2.7 rebounds, and 2.2 assists per game.

Rounding out the returning group of starters is sophomore Sean Murphy. Murphy has worked this season to regain the weight and strength he lost last year after suffering from tonsillitis.

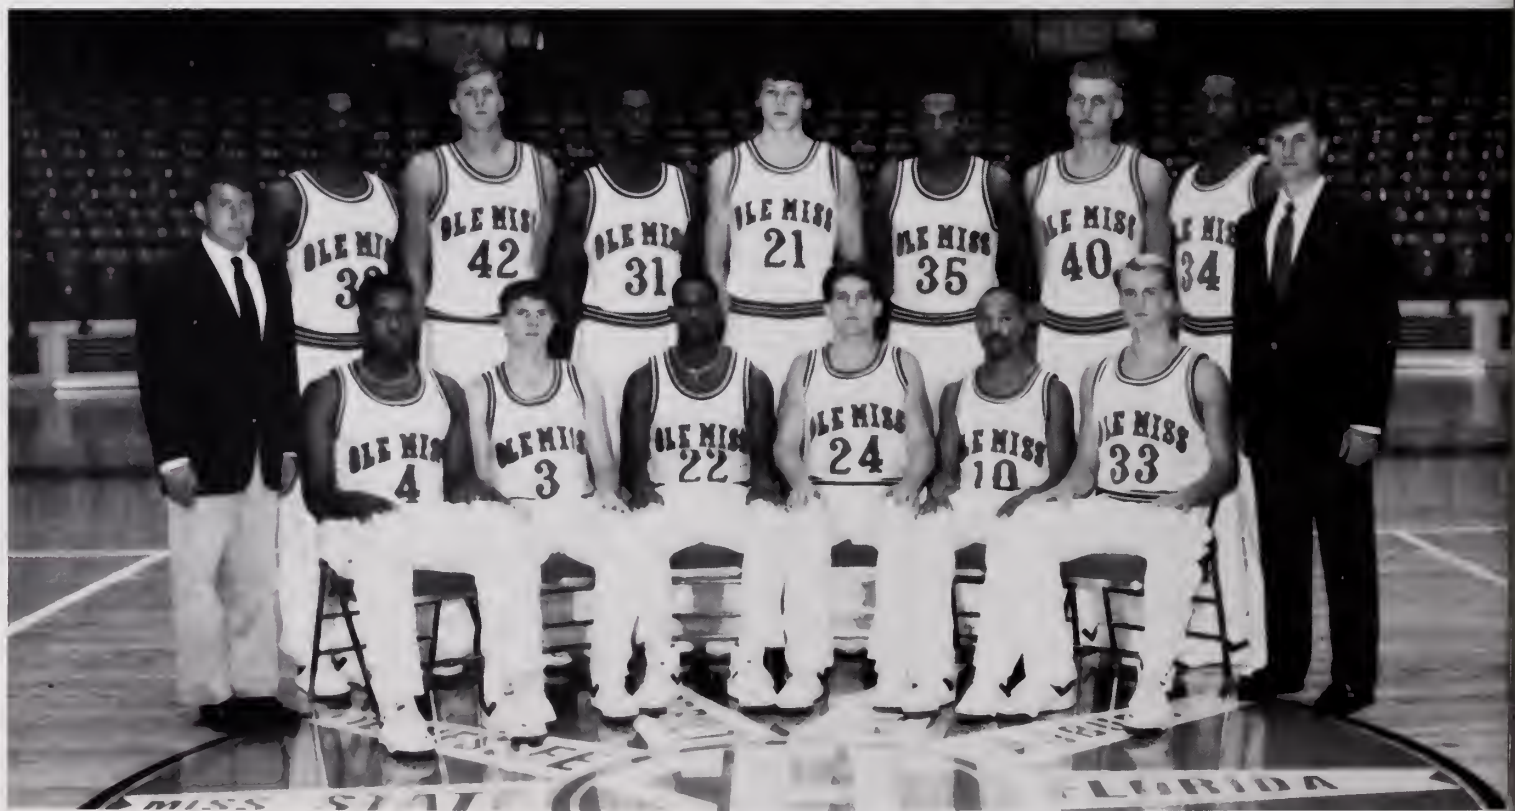

Coach Ed Murphy expects an improvement in 1989 over last season's record. He said, "We should be much stronger. No longer is a trip to Tad Smith Coliseum a joy ride for opponents. We feel that we have this basketball program going in the right direction."

The Tradition Continues in 89

Women's basketball entered its 15th season at Ole Miss this year. So far, the Lady Rebels have never had a losing season, and this year's record should not prove to be any different. Ole Miss has made seven consecutive NCAA Tournament appearances and is expected to play in the Tournament again this year. The Lady Rebels finished last year's season 24-7 and ranked 12th in the Associated Press Top Twenty poll. In 1989, the team has been ranked as high as number three in the AP poll.

Four starters and eleven letter winners from the 1988 team returned for this season, but winning will not necessarily be easy — especially in the tough SEC. The Lady Rebels are facing a hard schedule overall, and the SEC teams will be especially challenging as the women's teams from Auburn, Tennessee, and LSU have been ranked in the Top Twenty along with Ole Miss. Coach Van Chancellor is expecting the team to carry on the tradition of winning despite the difficult schedule. He said, "We think this team will give us an opportunity to run more as we have depth. We'll also be much more diverse."

This year's team leader is senior Cynthia Autry. She was All-SEC last year, and she led the Lady Rebels last season in scoring (15.2 points per game) and rebounding (8.4 rebounds per game). Returning All-SEC player Kimsey O'Neal led the team in blocked shots last year (24) and was second in scoring and rebounding. As a junior, she is in fifth place in all-time career blocked shots (55). Phyllis Stafford is another returning senior and is in fifth place in the all-time season field goal shooting percentage (54.8). The other returning starter is sophomore Jackie Martin. Last season she averaged 7.2 points and 3.5 assists per game. She had 110 assists total, second only to Kim Bullard.

Lady Rebels are Built Strong

"We don't have a breather on our entire schedule," says Blair.

The 1988 Lady Rebels Volleyball team possesses all of the qualities of a winning team — leadership, experience, determination, dedication and teamwork. "This team has a cohesiveness as a group unlike any I've ever coached," says Head Coach John Blair.

Of the season, Coach Blair says, "We're going to have to compete better this season because we're playing a better brand of teams. The teams on this year's schedule are better prepared and have a deeper volleyball tradition. We don't have a breather on our entire schedule." Another major determinate in the degree of success of this 1988 team, aside from the tougher-than-ever schedule, is the addition of five outstanding newcomers to the team. These newcomers (all freshman) include: Gratia Bone, Stephanie Lindley, Rachelle Paul, MeShun Thomas, and Kristi Wilkenson.

Ackerman, Tweedy, and Whitby Carry Team

Three members of the Ole Miss volleyball team stand out in accomplishments and exceptional talent. Margie Ackerman, Robyn Tweedy, and Michelle Whitby all possess impressive records as well as the potential for promising futures in volleyball. These players carried the three highest percentages on the 1988 team.

Ackerman, a senior from Sauk Rapids, MN, is a well-rounded athlete who plays many roles in the Ole Miss plan. The 1987 season was her second as a starter, and she made the Academic All-Southeastern Conference Team.

Tweedy, a senior from Ruxico, MO, is largely responsible for stabilizing the offense since she is the only senior setter. 1987 was her first season as a Lady Rebel.

Whitby, a sophomore from Memphis, transferred to Ole Miss last year from Mississippi State. She was a starter on the Volleyball team at State, and she proved to be a vital part and a great addition to the Rebels.

MEN'S TENNIS

Ranks Fourth in SEC

The Ole Miss men's tennis team under coach Billy Chadwick finished the 1988 season with a 15-14 record and an Ole Miss best fourth place finish in the South-eastern Conference.

The Rebels had a six match winning streak with wins over Tulane, Memphis State, Vanderbilt, Mississippi State, Auburn, and Alabama to end the 1988 season. Ole Miss had two players reach the finals in singles play (Dave Randall in #1 singles and Wade Petty in #4 singles) with Randall winning the SEC Championship. In doubles the team of David Baxter and Tommy Alfano reached the semi-finals.

The Ole Miss doubles team of junior Dave Randall and freshman Jamie Booras reached a number 10 ranking in the Volvo Tennis/Colegiate Rankings on the way to a quarter-final appearance in the NCAA Tournament as they became the first ever Ole Miss tennis All-Americans. Randall and Booras defeated Patrick McEnroe (brother of professional tennis player John McEnroe) and Martin Blackmun of Stanford to reach the final eight. Randall and Booras finished the regular season with a 25-7 record.

Randall Ranks No. 1 in SEC

Senior Dave Randall of Tupelo, MS, stood tall for the 87-88 Rebels as he won the 1988 SEC tournament in singles. Along with great talents in singles, he proceeded to make a tremendous showing in men's doubles with sophomore Jamie Booras. This showing included a win over Stanford's Patrick McEnroe and Martin Blackman at the NCAA Men's Tennis Championship. As a result, both Randall and Booras were named All-American players. The Randall-Booras team was Ole Miss's second entry ever to make the NCAA tournament.

WOMEN'S TENNIS

Sports New Look

The Ole Miss women's tennis team is sporting a new look this year, and Coach Jerry Montgomery likes what he sees. Because several top Lady Rebel netters were graduated last year, the team has many new faces, and Coach Montgomery thinks that these new girls may be the most talented, dedicated group to have come along in years.

This fall, freshmen Alison Hill from England and Ivy Conoley of Orlando, FL won the Southern Intercollegiate #1 Doubles Crown, the first for Ole Miss in over five years. Also, Melissa Davidson from Meridian, MS and Stephanie Dixon of Henderson, KY won the Southern Intercollegiate #3 Doubles Title, defeating Alabama in the finals.

Junior Kim Schmitz from Dunwoody, GA had an impressive SEC record last year with individual wins over LSU, Auburn, and Alabama. In the fall, Schmitz teamed with Hill to win the prestigious Southern Open Indoor Doubles Championship.

Former Ole Miss coach Joe Walker has returned to the University to regain control of the track team. Walker coached at Ole Miss from the late 70s until 1985. In 1984 he led Ole Miss to its best ever second place finish in the SEC. Walker coached at Florida in 1986-87, and his teams won consecutive SEC indoor/outdoor titles. He has also trained Olympic runners and NCAA champions.

Individuals Bring Home SEC Honors

Six outstanding student athletes brought international recognition to Ole Miss. Despite a threat of a change in coaching staffs the men's and women's track teams still made a good showing last season. Several members of the teams received South Eastern Conference honors. Allen Ince received second place in the 400 meter hurdle. Ince, Donald Lacy, Brian Kelly, and Gabriel Dear placed in the 4x400 relay and Verdell Oliver received fourth in the long jump. At the SEC Indoor Championship Oliver placed third in the long jump and the men's team placed sixth in the 4x800 relay.

Ole Miss' own Allen Ince participated in the 1988 Summer Olympics in Seoul, South Korea, where he represented his home country, Barbados.

Women's Track

Young Team Looks to Bright Future with Walker

Women's track is still a young sport at Ole Miss but the team is gaining good experience. The Lady Rebels seem to be making a name for themselves since four Ole Miss Lady Tracksters placed in the 1988 South Eastern Conference Championship. Jody Cline placed in the discus throw, but was later out of competition due to a knee injury. Charlotte Ashe received fifth in the long jump and the team of Ashe, Erica Burley, and Nyarinda Aduma placed fifth in the 4x400 meter relay. Also, Kelly McLaughlin and Sonya Varnell were academic All-SEC.

With new head coach Joe Walker the lady rebels are looking forward to a brighter place in the ranks of the SEC. Younger team members are gaining valuable experience from the veteran runner, Walker, who has trained several Olympic runners. Even though the team is losing several seniors, they should have a good spring season.

Rebel Golfers Fare Well

Larry Slone approaches his second season as head coach of the Ole Miss golf team. Slone took over in November of 1987 replacing nine-year coach Ernest Ross. The Rebels' four returning Seniors this year had a productive fall with help from the freshmen. During the 1988 fall season the Rebels tied for 2nd place at the Fairfield Bay Classic in Fairfield Bay, Arkansas.

Dave Miley is expected to lead the Rebels in the spring along with Jeff Daves. Will Pritchard and Clayton Covey will also contribute a great deal to the team this spring with good experience as Seniors. All had good fall seasons. Miley was named second team All Southeastern Conference player while Daves was named Academic All Southeastern Conference with both expecting to have an excellent spring.

Coach Slone feels that the Rebels should have a good spring season and have a high finish in the Southeastern conference tournament. The third year of the Ole Miss golf program for women is off to a good start. The 1988 season turned out well under the leadership of coach Beth Estes. This year's team is a young one and there has been steady improvement since last season. Chris Dacri, a freshman, is expected to lead the lady Rebels along with the returning veterans: Louise Davis, Lindy Dorris, Samantha Mayo; three sophomores, Keilly Frassrand, Stephanie Gentry, Amy Napolitano; and freshman, Jennifer Humkey. Coach Estes is hoping to have a good spring season since her team improved with each fall tournament and is becoming competitive. We Are Ole Miss!

Cheerleaders play an important role in Ole Miss athletics. The responsibility of getting the fans fired up is often a hard job — especially when the Rebels are behind on the scoreboard. Varsity cheerleaders cheer at all of the football games and the junior varsity cheerleaders help them out at homecoming and Ole Miss vs. Mississippi State games. Both squads enthusiastically support the Ole Miss Rebels and Lady Rebels basketball teams who brought in record breaking crowds. The basketball schedule is divided between the varsity and junior varsity squads. 1988 varsity cheerleaders are Connie Brazile, Heather Stone, Susan Benson, Kim Kalberrer, Dana Mosley, Tracey Johnson, Greg Whittington, Steven Speights, Brian Baldwin, Jay McCroskey, Darrel Herring, and Richard Kraft. Kirk Frederick is Colonel Rebel, and Sam Hubbard is Johnny Reb.

HONORS

Achievements for the rest of your life.

There are select students and groups that represent the best of what the University has to offer. The laurels that have been placed upon these students are more than resume fillers. For the student, an honor is a reward for hours of studying and the respect of faculty and administration. In only a few years at Ole Miss, these students have exhibited the best of their talents, but the opportunities taken advantage of along the way will last a lifetime.

Hall of Fame

WILLIAM LUTHER BOYD

During his four years at Ole Miss, Bill Boyd has served in many leadership positions, and one of his most challenging leadership roles was as 1988-89 ASB President. Other activities include, Alpha Lambda Delta Vice President, Sigma Nu Fraternity Chaplain, Beta Alpha Psi, Omicron Delta Kappa, Mortar Board, and Director of University Development. Boyd was also chosen for Who's Who Among American College Students.

Hall of Fame

STUART TODD BRUNSON

Stuart Brunson is an English/History major from Moscow, TN. He has served as Omicron Delta Kappa President, Interfraternity Council President, and Sigma Nu Fraternity President. His campus activities include Mortar Board, Order of Omega, Phi Kappa Phi, Alpha Lambda Delta, Golden Key and Phi Eta Sigma. Brunson is also a member of Who's Who Among American College Students.

Hall of Fame

ALLYSON JEAN HEFLIN

Allyson Heflin, 1988-89 Homecoming Queen, is an English major from Forest, MS. She was a member of Order of Omega, Sigma Tau Delta, Lambda Sigma, and was chosen as a Campus Favorite. She served as Rush Chairperson of Phi Mu Sorority and was in the Chancellor's Leadership Class.

Hall of Fame

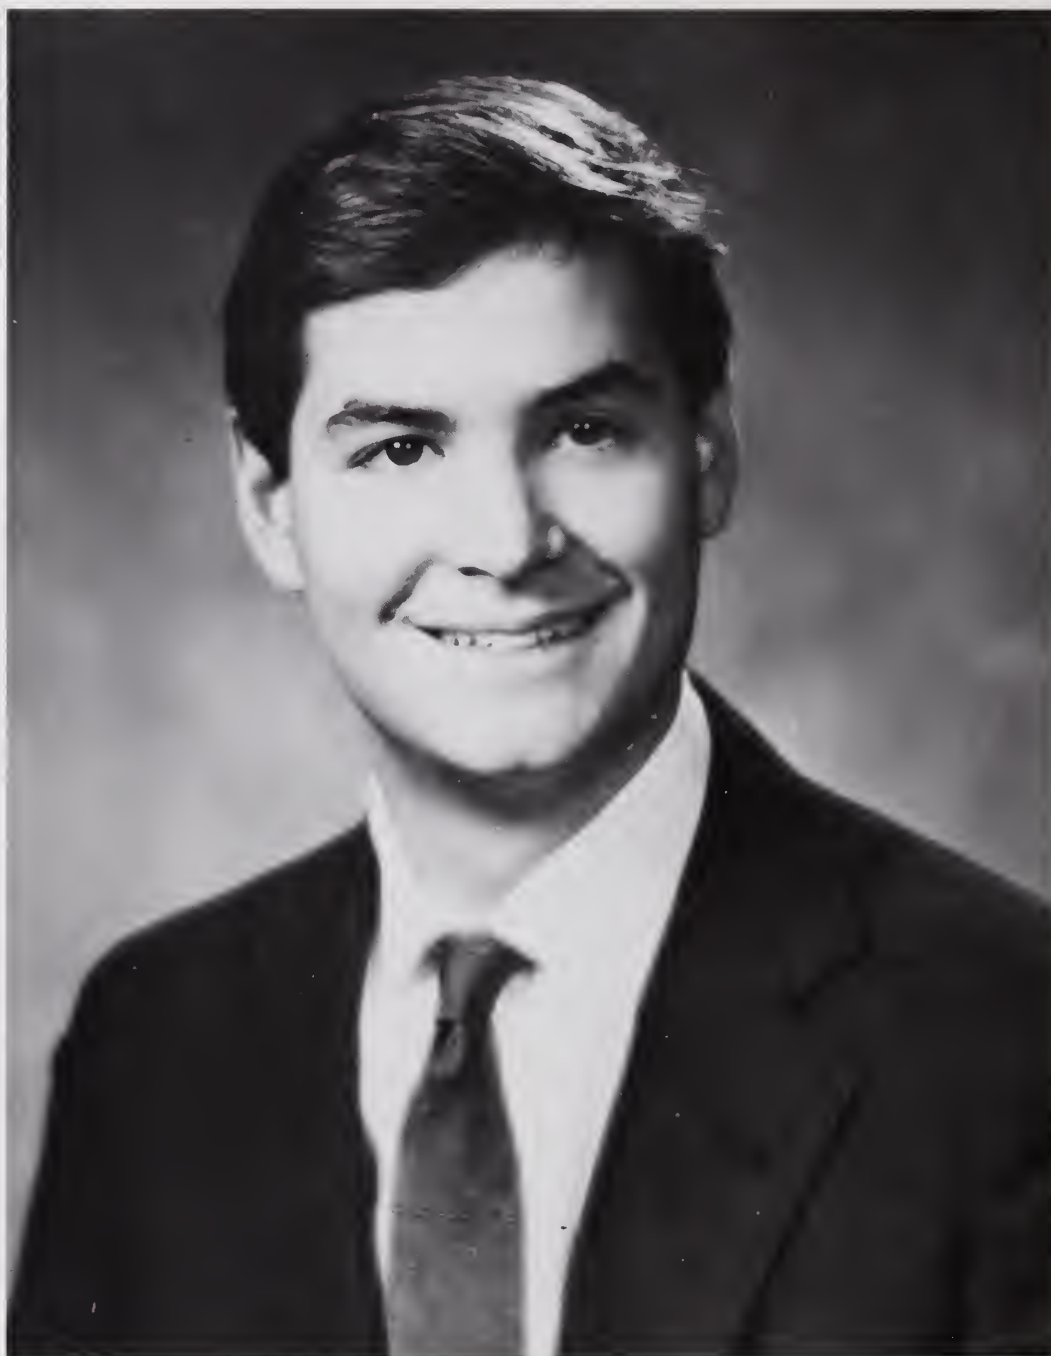

WILLIAM GARNER RANSOM NEWTON

Garner Newton, an electrical engineering major from Greenville, Mississippi, is a member of Phi Delta Theta Fraternity. His campus activities include Engineering Student Body President, Phi Kappa Phi, Mortar Board, Order of Omega, Omicron

Delta Kappa, Golden Key, Eta Kappa Nu President, and numerous others. He also served on the Chancellor's Standing Committee on University Police Department Affairs, and is member of Who's Who Among American College Students.

Hall of Fame

JAMES FRANCIS PIERSON III

Jimbo Pierson is a General Business major from Baton Rouge, LA. At the University of Mississippi, he served as Senior Class President and Order of Omega President. Jimbo is also a member of Omicron Delta Kappa, Golden Key, Interfraternity Council, and Associated Student Body Academic Affairs Committee. He was chosen for Who's Who Among American College Students and Outstanding College Students of America. Pierson was also President of Kappa Sigma Fraternity.

CARL LEE POWELL

An accounting major from Madison, MS, Carl Powell has served as Associated Student Body Treasurer. He was also Academic Affairs Chairman, Interfraternity Council Secretary, and President of Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity. Powell is also a member of Omicron Delta Kappa, Mortar Board, Lambda Sigma, Alpha Lambda Delta and Order of Omega. He served on the Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs Committee and was chosen for Who's Who Among American College Students.

Hall of Fame

CHARLES WESLEY WALLS

Wesley Walls, 1989 Colonel Reb, is a general engineering major from Pontotoc, MS. He was a Varsity Football Athlete and served on the M Club Executive Committee. He was also inducted into the Ole Miss Chapter of the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame Scholar Athlete. He is a member of Omicron Delta Kappa and was selected for Outstanding Young Men of America and Who's Who Among American College Students.

Hall of Fame

ELIZABETH PHARR WYATT

Elizabeth Wyatt, a biology major from Cleveland, Ms, was a member of Phi Kappa Phi, Omicron Delta Kappa, Mortar Board, Alpha Epsilon Delta, Gamma Beta Phi, Lambda Sigma, and the University Honor's Program. She was Mississippi's 1988 Miss Hospitality and an Ole Miss Beauty in 1986 and 1987. Wyatt is a member of the Association of Women Students, the Delta Delta Delta Pledge Trainer, and she was selected for Who's Who Among American College Students.

BΓΣ BETA GAMMA SIGMA

Beta Gamma Sigma is a national scholastic honor. Beta Gamma Sigma chapter may be chartered only in those schools of business and accountancy accredited by the American Assembly of Collegiate Schools of Business. The University of Mississippi chapter of Beta Gamma Sigma was chartered in 1944.

To be eligible for Beta Gamma Sigma membership, students must rank in the top five percent of the junior class, the top ten percent of the senior class, or in the top twenty percent of those students receiving master's degrees. Students who have completed all requirements for the doctoral degree conferred by a school of business or accountancy are also eligible for membership in Beta Gamma Sigma.

The purposes of Beta Gamma Sigma are to encourage and reward scholarship and accomplishment among students of business administration, to promote the advancement of education in the art and science of business, and to foster integrity in the conduct of business operations.

Golden Key

The Golden Key national Honor Society was founded at Georgia State University on November 29, 1977.

Membership is extended to the top fifteen percent of all juniors and seniors. This interdisciplinary society seeks to recognize the top students in all courses of study.

The Ole Miss chapter of Golden Key honors its new members each year with an initiation ceremony and reception. Honorary members, made up of distinguished members of the administration and faculty, are also recognized at this time. Golden Key awards a scholarship each year to the outstanding junior and senior initiates.

Mortar Board

Ollie Brock

Established originally as a national women's honor society, Mortar Board is one of the highest senior honor groups for both men and women. Tassels, the local chapter, has been active on the Ole Miss campus since its founding in 1939. With a 95 member limit, Mortar Board selects members based on leadership, scholarship, service and at least a 3.0 GPA.

Mortar Board is an organization that challenges the individual to provide thoughtful leadership to the campus and community, to create an environment of effective communication and to move toward a meaningful goal. The society continues to support the improvement of the status of men and women.

ΦΚΦ PHI KAPPA PHI

Founded in 1897, the Honor Society of Phi Kappa Phi was established at the University of Mississippi to encourage and recognize superior achievement in and contributions to all academic disciplines.

The Society advocates a philosophy of honoring persons of good character who have excelled academically to stimulate other individuals to strive for excellence in scholastic endeavors. Phi Kappa Phi at the University extends invitations for membership to no more than ten percent of junior, senior or graduate students; and membership in Phi Kappa Phi is the highest academic honor attainable at Ole Miss.

TBP TAU BETA PI

Tau Beta Pi, a national engineering honor society, was founded in 1885 to recognize students of superior scholarship and outstanding character in all fields of engineering.

Since the establishment of the first chapter at Lehigh University, Tau Beta Pi has grown to 196 chapters located throughout the country. The Mississippi Beta Chapter was founded in 1969 and is one of two chapters in Mississippi. Membership is by invitation only. A senior must be in the top fifth of his class and a junior must be in the top eighth. A candidate must show exemplary character, personal integrity, breadth of interest both inside and outside engineering, adaptability and unselfish activity.

ΦΑΘ PHI ALPHA THETA

Ken Ivey

Phi Alpha Theta, Kappa Alpha Chapter, plays an active role in the Ole Miss history department. Weekly meetings with faculty members, fall wine and cheese party, and a spring softball game and picnic are traditional events. This year the University of Mississippi Kappa Alpha Chapter is hosting the state PAT convention, bringing students from colleges throughout the state to present papers on historical topics.

Administration

Examples for the rest of your life.

Always ready to help, advise, or explain, administrators guide us through scheduling, registering, and eventually graduation. The professors, teachers and staff have continued the tradition of excellence that embodies Ole Miss. They are more than just guides through the halls of knowledge, they care how we excel and want to influence our future. Their advice will be with us as we leave and will affect the decisions of our lives.

GOVERNOR RAY MABUS

UM Alumnus Governs the State of Mississippi

Ray Mabus, the 60th Governor of the State of Mississippi, is also the nation's youngest Governor at 39. He was born on October 11, 1948 in Choctaw County, Mississippi.

Mabus attended Ackerman public schools and the University of Mississippi. He then received a Woodrow Wilson Fellowship to attend Johns Hopkins University, where he earned a Masters degree in government.

The UM Alumnus then volunteered for the U.S. Navy, where he served aboard a guided missile cruiser. After military service, he attended and graduated magna cum laude from Harvard Law School.

Mabus then came back to Mississippi in 1980 to work on the staff of Governor William Winter where he drafted, and helped pass, the historic Education Reform Act of 1982.

He was elected State Auditor in 1983, which marked the first time in 50 years that someone not endorsed by the outgoing auditor was elected.

On February 16, 1987, Mabus was the first to officially announce that he was running for governor in the 1987 election. After winning both the August primary and subsequent run-off, he was elected on November 3, 1987, on a platform of educational improvement and economic development.

Mabus married the former Julie Hines of Jackson, the youngest of three daughters born to Herman and Martha Hamilton Hines.

The University of Mississippi is privileged to have such a distinguished alumnus.

CHANCELLOR TURNER

Dr. R. Gerald Turner became the twenty-second Chancellor of the University of Mississippi on April 2, 1984. He is the second youngest person ever to be named to this position.

Preceding his career at Ole Miss, Turner served as Vice President for Executive Affairs at the University of Oklahoma.

His academic background credits him with earning an associate of art in mathematics from Lubbock Christian College, a bachelor of science in psychology and mathematics from Abilene Christian University, a master of arts in counseling psychology and the doctor of philosophy in psychology both from the University of Texas at Austin.

Turner is known for his successful "Campaign for Ole Miss" which has credited the school with funds for improving our academic facilities and has recruited numerous amounts of students and support for the university in general.

Chancellor Turner and his wife Gail have two children, Angela Jan, 17, and Jessica Diane, 12.

TEACHER OF THE YEAR

Dr. William Staton

The Outstanding Teacher of the Year Committee was established in 1966 to annually recognize excellence in teaching. In the beginning, it was publicized only with a flyer that had a drawing of an apple core and read: "Good teaching gets to the core of things — Choose your outstanding teacher." Now it is publicized with a newly designed poster and banners around the campus. The selection committee is made up of eight former recipients, the ASB President, and the Director of Alumni Affairs. They issue a call for nominating letters in November through December, review them in the Spring, and make their decision in late March.

Dr. William Staton, a professor of mathematics and a ten-year teaching veteran at the University of Mississippi, has earned this honor.

Along with this honor, Staton earned a plaque and a $1,000 check which was presented during Honors Day by Chancellor Gerald Turner.

"The primary consideration is teaching excellence," said Chancellor Turner, "and Bill Staton exhibits great ability in teaching and helping students understand the intricacies of mathematics. He is greatly concerned with the progress of his students and is thoroughly dedicated to taking all the time necessary to teach and advise them."

Staton joined the faculty of Ole Miss as an assistant professor in 1978 after earning bachelor and masters degrees at the University of Texas and a doctorate at the University of Houston.

Staton was promoted to associate professor in 1984 and full professor 1988 at the University of Mississippi.

In addition to his teaching responsibilities, Staton has published 22 papers and made 17 scholarly presentations in his fields of expertise — graph theory and combinatorial mathematics.

Staton is married to Dr. Carolyn Ellis Staton, professor of law at Ole Miss Law School and they have two sons. As a member of St. John's Catholic Church, Staton's hobbies include long distance running, in which he has earned numerous awards.

UM Center helps students

The Ole Miss Student Development Center is a multi-dimensional, full-service unit available to all students. The purpose of this center is to help in the development of the students here at Ole Miss as they move from their freshman year to their senior year.

The center is divided into three main aspects — orientation, testing, and counseling.

The relationship between the student and the Student Development Center begins with orientation into the university. There are five different summer orientation sessions throughout the months of June and July for new freshmen and all transfer students. These sessions are to give new students an introduction to Ole Miss, as well as, assist them in their pre-registering for fall classes.

The testing done through the center provides students with an individual academic and career assessment program to help the students to learn more about themselves. The areas of testing include: an academic assessment test, an assessment test for learning disabilities, a career assessment test and a personality assessment test.

The most important aspect of the Student Development Center is the counseling. There are academic counselors, personal counselors, and career counselors. The academic counselors are available to assist all students in selecting a major and planning their individual educational program for the time that they spend here at Ole Miss. There is small group counseling, as well as, individual counseling for those with time management and self-discipline problems. There is also a parent-student support group offered through the center by Ms. Susan Eftink.

This program is for students and their parents who wish for more extensive counseling in the academic area.

Academic assistance is offered through the Learning Center, another part of the Student Development Center. It is located in the bottom of the J. D. Williams Library to assist students mainly through tutorial programs. All tutoring offered is free and in cooperation with the academic departments and residence halls. Other services offered by the Learning Center are individual assistance in locating private tutors, improving basic skills, reading speed, comprehension, vocabulary, test-taking skills, and language improvement for foreign students.

The Disabled Student Services Program is yet another part of the Student Development Center. It provides access for the handicapped and the learning disabled students. There is a separate coordinator that works with each. They are there to communicate the needs of these students to the University.

Aside from the academic counselors, are the personal counselors. These counselors aid in the adjustment of the students to their new academic environment. They help with personal problems such as stress, depression, eating disorders and anxiety. If more intensive and extensive counseling is needed, the student development counselors will refer these students to the University Psychologist or to the University Psychological Services Center. All of this type of counseling is free and confidential.

A very important type of counseling available to all students, but especially helpful to those graduating seniors is career counseling. This type of counseling helps students in choosing a career and actually moving out of their college environment into the world of work. Students who have chosen a career may receive assistance in writing resumes, interview strategies and company research. The Student Development Center maintains files on all the current job openings as they come up, as well as, files on many of the individual companies that are hiring.

It is through this career counseling that actual job interviews are set up for students. In addition, there is a job location program available to students not on financial aid to assist them while they are still in school. This program finds part-time jobs for these students when they need to earn a little extra money.

In addition to all of these types of counselors, the Student Development Center is in the process of hiring a crisis counselor to help students cope when there has been a crisis such as an automobile accident.

As one can see, the Student Development Center is not just the mysterious office located on the third floor of the Lyceum. It is a very important component of this University. It is always available to assist all students in any way possible. The counselors involved in the Center are with you from the time that you enroll until the time you receive your diploma. Ole Miss really is for you!

Turner has "Big Dreams" for Ole Miss

Dr. Gerald Turner is known best on campus for his view that the school has become "a joyful combination of the traditional and the modern." The modern aspect is largely due to the actions and the vision of Chancellor Turner.

Dr. Turner received the associate of art in mathematics from Lubbock Christian College, a Bachelor of Science in psychology and mathematics at Abilene-Christians University, a Master of Arts in counseling psychology and the Doctor of Philosophy and Psychology both from the University of Texas at Austin. When considering Ole Miss, Turner had never visited Mississippi, but saw a need for change in the state and the school. "People talked of a new emphasis needed at Ole Miss," said Turner; the new chancellor was ready to make a change.

"I like as many irons in the fire at one time as possible." Encouraging national school visibility, maximizing educational potential, encouraging private and state support for the school and bringing athletic facilities up to "SEC standards" are just a few of the Chancellor's long term goals.

Turner has helped initiate the highly advertised "140th Anniversary of Ole Miss," plans for the supercomputer and center for acoustics, the building of a new baseball field, and the renovations of Vaught-Hemingway stadium.

The key to success according to Chancellor Turner, is realizing that "big dreams are possible."

As the twenty-second Chancellor for the University of Mississippi, Dr. Gerald Turner works to keep "high respect for tradition," but also focus on "the promises of the future."

SCHOOL OF ACCOUNTANCY

The Ole Miss School of Accountancy has a unique organizational arrangement among accountancy programs in the U.S. While most accountancy programs are departments within a business school, at Ole Miss the School is a completely separate unit and is celebrating the tenth anniversary of its establishment. A five-year program, the School awards the B. Accy. after four years and the M. Accy. after the fifth year. A doctoral program is also available.

The School is fully accredited at both the Bachelors and Masters levels. Students completing the program are well prepared for prestigious jobs with CPA firms and in industry, government and education, and for the professional certification examinations.

Ole Miss accountancy students are highly respected for their leadership in academic honoraries, student government and organizations, and other areas of campus life.

In order to enable the students to understand the common body of knowledge, the program must have high academic standards and effective teaching. Thus, the objectives of the School of Accountancy include the following: (1) To affirm the University of Mississippi as one of the leading institutions in accounting education in the nation, (2) To ensure that the School of Accountancy continues to be accredited, (3) To encourage the involvement of the faculty in professional activities and continuing professional education for the people of the state, and (4) To promote the academic contributions of the faculty.

SCHOOL OF BUSINESS

As the complexity of the business world has grown, so has the demand for people educated to understand and cope with these problems. The School of Business Administration strives to prepare its graduates to enter today's world of business ready to tackle responsibilities at the administrative level whether they may be in private business or at a similar level in the public or nonprofit sector.

The home away from home for most business school majors is Connor Hall, which they share with the Accountancy majors. The Business School offices are also housed in Connor.

SCHOOL OF EDUCATION

"The School of Education is dedicated to the preparation of students for effective leadership and service in school, home, and community. A degree in education prepares a student for jobs in many areas. For example, public schools are hiring education graduates as teachers, supervisors, coordinators, administrators, and guidance counselors.

A degree in education also carries with it the responsibility of helping guide young people to be worthwhile and contributing citizens in our society."

THE GRADUATE SCHOOL

The Graduate School at the University of Mississippi was founded in 1927 and offers graduate degrees (Designated Masters, Masters, Specialist, Doctoral) in more than fifty academic areas.

Courses at the graduate level were actually first offered at the University of Mississippi in 1870. However, a definite program of graduate study with a minimum residence requirement of one academic year was first used in 1890. The Graduate School was formally organized in 1927 to coordinate and administer graduate study and research.

The Graduate School is located in room 126 of the Biology Building.

SCHOOL OF LAW

On a warm September day in 1854, seven students and a professor met in a corner room in the Lyceum building, thereby launching the fledgling Department of Law at the University of Mississippi. Their "law library" consisted primarily of a few books made available from the personal libraries of lawyer-members of the Board of Trustees, and the classes were taught by a single instructor, Professor William Forbes Stearns. In August 1988, the 134th year of the School of Law began. In a tangible sense, today's modern Law Center bears no resemblance to the modest Law Department of 1854. The student enrollment of approximately 500 is taught by a faculty of twenty-one teachers; the Law Library contains over 200,000 volumes including extensive holdings in microfilm and microfiche, and substantial computerized research capabilities; the various subdivisions of the Law Center provide continuing legal education for the lawyers, judges and court officials of Mississippi and conduct research into the legal needs of the state. In terms of intangible qualities, however, the contemporary Law Center is an extension and embodiment of the spirit and dedication which characterized the efforts of those early pioneers in legal education in Mississippi.

Greeks

Friendships for the rest of your life.

Being a Greek at Ole Miss provides you with acceptance, friendships and a social life. These new families contribute in many ways to the way you think and act; in effect, you are molded, if only modestly, into a person that has the qualities of people from different walks of life. However, Greek life isn't just restricted to the boundaries of the Ole Miss campus. It is a lifestyle that begins on the night of initiation and continues for the rest of your life.

The Interfraternity Council is the governing body of Ole Miss's nineteen recognized fraternities. The council is composed of the president and two representatives from every fraternity. Besides the usual tasks of coordinating fraternity rush and general policy making, the IFC was involved in several other notable activities this year. Among these was the continuing commitment to a $50,000 pledge to the Bessie Speed Center and the establishment of a housing fund that raised over $20,000 to help the Phi Beta Sigma fraternity secure housing on Fraternity Row after arson destroyed the home in which they originally planned to live.

Someone named it right. Rush. It's a crash course in Greek life at Ole Miss. In this hectic week of nonstop parties, coordinating outfits, and permanent grins, most people find a group they feel at home with. Rush is the beginning of life as a greek. Its the beginning of relationships with sorority sisters and fraternity brothers, life-long memories of formal dates and arrange-a-dates, spring parties and chapter meetings.

As a rushee, you never thought the day would come. After an entire week of meeting hundreds of strangers you finally find a place where you belong. Once you receive your bid, you head to the house to meet your new brothers/sisters. Soon after you are off to the Bid Day festivities — frat parties and the bands on sorority row. You are now officially a Greek at Ole Miss.

ΔΓ anchor splash

The third annual ΔΓ Anchor Splash successfully helped to raise money for sight conservation and prevention of blindness. This year, 15 fraternities competed in two 15 meter swimming races, the Mr. Anchor Splash contest, synchronized swimming, a pledge president event, and other events. First place overall went to ΦΚΤ, and Danny Muse of ΚΑ won the Mr. Anchor Splash contest.

The 26th annual ΣX Derby Day brought weeklong festivities for a good cause — The National Kidney Foundation. During the week, various bands played in local bars as a means of raising money.

On Saturday, April 16, sororities did their dances and competed in field games at Village Field. Earlier that week, Katie Ferguson of ΔΔΔ sorority was crowned 1988 Derby Day Queen. The overall Derby Day winner was KKI'.

The 1988 Greek Games concluded Greek Week on Friday, March 25. Members of Ole Miss's sororities and fraternities gathered on Village Field that afternoon and participated in events like Tug-o-war, Hippity Hop, Bat Spin, and of all things — Greased Twister. Other events during the week included the bed race and a golf tournament. The 1988 Greek Week was sponsored by Budwieser, KZ-103, Coca-Cola, as well as various local sponsors.

alpha delta pi

Alpha Delta Pi, the first secret society for women, now recognized as the nation's oldest sorority, was founded in 1851 at Wesleyan College in Macon, Georgia. Our Delta Sigma chapter was established at Ole Miss in the spring of 1960. Since that time, each group of pledges has upheld the traditions behind the lion, the diamond, and the colors of azure blue and white. These girls have embodied the qualities of uniqueness and diversity which are so much a part of AΔΠ. AΔΠ represents many things. It is brand-new friends and life-long sisters. It is striving for achievement and campus leadership. It's Rebelette practice and Rebel Recruiter meetings. It's fraternity little sisters and Ole Miss Ambassadors. It's honoraries and ASB committees. It is hard work and dedication. It's the oozeball tournament for our philanthropy, Ronald McDonald Houses. It's Derby Day and Homecoming floats. It is the memories of good times. It's cookouts and crush parties. It's Black Diamond formal and a riverboat blowout. But most of all, it's first and finest, Alpha Delta Pi.

Alpha Omicron Pi, founded in 1897 at Barnard College, has chapters throughout the United States and Canada. In 1958, the Nu Beta chapter was established at Ole Miss where they are known by the panda bear and the ruby. Their flower is the Jacqueminot rose, and their color, cardinal red. AOPI can be found in every aspect of campus life — fraternity little sisters and sweethearts, newspaper and annual staff members, rebel recruiters, rebelettes, ASB leaders, and various honorary members. AOPI's share fun traditions of formals, big sis-lil sis, Valentine's Crush party, chapter retreats, grab-a-date, and philanthropic projects for Arthritis Research. All of these things combined bring out the true sisterhood we share. AOPI offers friendships that will last a lifetime. 1. AOPI's "Go Together" especially on Derby Day. 2. chi ~~x~~ omega

Tau chapter of Chi Omega was founded in 1899 and is the oldest sorority at Ole Miss. Since that time we have strived to be the leaders in every aspect at Ole Miss. Chi O's are a varying group of girls that all share a special bond of friendship. We are represented around campus by ASB officers, beauties, Rebel Recruiters, calendar girls, cheerleaders, favorites, and fraternity sweethearts.

Chi Omega's also value scholastic achievement. This is evident by our Taylor medalists, and our members of Mortar Board, OAK, Chancellor Honor roll, and achieving the highest GPA on campus. No two girls in our chapter are alike. We encourage the growth of every girl as an individual and for her to be no one but herself. 1. Missy's share a warm hug. 2. Chi O's are friends forever. 3. Paige, Evelyn and Melissa are excited about who's coming down the hill. 4. Chi O's say peace on Derby Day.

Chi chapter of Delta Delta Delta was founded on September 22, 1904. This chapter holds many wonderful memories and even more splendid expectations for the future. It's colors silver, gold, and blue along with the pearl, the pine, and the pansy, symbolize the tradition found in this special sisterhood. Chi chapter's strengths lie in a variety of areas including sports, cheerleading, campus favorites, fra-

Alpha Psi of Delta Gamma is a special chapter, because it was founded at Ole Miss in 1873. Our colors are bronze, pink, and blue, and our flower is the cream colored rose. Our symbol is the golden anchor and a Raggedy Ann named Hanah which represents the ideal Delta Gamma. Dee Gee's are always ready to have fun. We have our annual Anchor Splash and enjoy two formals a year. Along with fun ac-

Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Inc. was founded on January 15, 1913, at Howard University in Washington, D.C. by 22 outstanding college women. Their purpose at founding was "to establish and maintain a high standard of morality and scholarship among women."

The Ole Miss chapter of ΔΣΘ is the Lambda Sigma Chapter. This chapter was chartered in 1974. Our annual activities consist of a Thanksgiving Dinner for the elderly, Girl Scout visits, Little Miss Delta Sigma Theta Pageant, and Adopt-A-Friend Program at the North Mississippi Retardation Center.

Presently, there are over 750 chapters of ΔΣΘ, and there are over 125,000 members. The official colors of the sorority are crimson and cream. Lena Horne, Natalie Cole, Leyontyne Price, Nikki Giovanni, Barbara Jordan, Shirley Chisholm, and Leslie Uggams are a few of the many famous Deltas.

kappa alpha theta

This year marks a special year for the Ep-silon Zeta chapter of Kappa Alpha Theta because this is our chapter's 10 year anniversary at Ole Miss. Theta's are recognized by the kites they wear with the symbolic colors of black and gold and the pansy as our flower. Theta's hold a special bond of friendship and togetherness. Being a Theta means fun and a lifelong time of sisterhood. Theta's are visible on campus as leaders, rebels, beauties, favorites, Rebel Recruiters, fraternity little sisters.

and sweethearts too! Theta's are always busy. During the winter we raise money for our philanthropy, the Institute of Logopedics. We also have Big Sis-Lis Sis, Grab-a-date, Halloween party, and winter formal.

During the spring semester we have crush party and spring formal. Sisterhood and friendship are important to Theta's because being a Theta doesn't end in four years, it lasts a lifetime. 1. Tracy and Paige welcome new pledge Carol. 2. Debbie and Kris having a blast at spring formal. 3. Theta's at ATU swap. 4. Theta bid day.

Kappa is not just a sorority, but a group of sisters — the best of friends-unique in themselves, yet always standing together as one. The Kappa house is a home away from home to each and every member of KKT. Many Kappa accomplishments include top ten Parade of Beauties, Homecoming maids, cheerleaders, fraternity little sisters, Pike calendar, campus government officers, honoraries, and members of many other campus organizations. This year KKT "set the world on fire" and won first place at Derby Day, and had a blast doing so. KKT held a philanthropy project with IKA — a "swingathon" for the Mississippi Burn Center. Fall formal was held in Memphis at the New Daisy Theatre. With the symbols of the owl, the key, and the fleur-de-lis comes everlasting love, friendship, and sisterhood. 1. Having fun on bid day. 2. Kappa finds friends forever. 3. New found Kappa sisters. 4. "Setting the world on fire" at Derby Day.

Phi Mu, the second oldest women's sorority in the nation, was founded in 1852, at Wesleyan College in Macon, Georgia. Since then, Phi Mu has become one of the strongest fraternal organizations for women in America. Alpha Delta chapter is active in various activities on the Ole Miss campus such as fraternity little sisters, Ole Miss Ambassadors, Rebellettes, Association of Women Students, RUF, ASB offices and various honoraries. Also, Phi Mu enjoy fun events like Sigma Chi Derby Day, Bermuda Boat Bash, and winter formal. Phi Mus are always working for the Children's Miracle Network Telethon which is our national philanthropy. Friendship and sisterhood are at its best because Phi Mu is not for just a day, not just a year, but for a lifetime. 1. Julie and Kate had a blast at Phi Mu skating party. 2. Phi Mu's flower children pose for a picture. 3. Lesley and Melinda Miller are a picture perfect example of true Phi Mu sisters. 4. Friendship is what Phi Mu is all about.

alphaPhi Alpha

Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, Inc., the oldest Greek-letter society of Afro-American origin, was founded on December 4, 1906, at Cornell University, Ithaca, New York by seven courageous young men who saw the need of brotherhood, scholarship, and social commitment among college men of African descent. AΦA has been a training ground for leadership, academic endeavors, and economic gains to young men for more than eight decades. The official colors are black and old gold, and the fraternity flower is the yellow rose. This prestigious fraternity's aims, bearing the mystic Sphinx as its remarkable mascot, are mainly deeds: scholarship, and love for all mankind. Since the mid-forties, Alpha's portals have been open to all men on the basis of character, intellect, and distinction. Some of AΦA's famous brothers are Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., Thurgood Marshall, Andrew Young, Jackie Robinson, Jessie Owens, W.E.B. DuBois, Hubert H. Humphrey, John H. Johnson, and Duke Ellington.

The Nu Upsilon Chapter of Alpha Phi Alpha was incorporated at Ole Miss on March 20, 1978, and has held the honor of Mississippi's Premier Chapter for five consecutive years. After presenting an agenda of service in Project Alpha Teen Pregnancy Conference with the March of Dimes, the annual Miss Black and Gold Pageant, the Martin Luther King, Jr. Dreamer Award to Congressman Mike Espy, a march for Jobs and Justice, and a career development seminar, Nu Upsilon has been named State Undergraduate Chapter of 1988. Alpha Tau Omega was founded on September 11, 1865, at the Virginia Military Institute. The Delta Psi chapter here at Ole Miss is very involved in every facet of campus life from student government to honoraries to social aspects. ATΩ started the 1988 year off right with a successful rush bringing in a 61 member pledge class. Highlights of the fall semester included various swaps, cookouts with little sisters, football weekends, and our annual Halloween and Christmas parties. The spring semester begins with the traditional superbowl party, followed by Superformal in New Orleans, and Superkids, a fundraiser sponsored by ATΩ for the Mississippi Lung Association. The year ends with our annual week-long spring party "Gator Bash" bringing 7 bands, the Gator Bash pool which takes one month to build, and fun for all. 1. Scotty and Michelle at the ATΩ Christmas party. 2. Ross and Libba having fun at the Pre-Bash Smash. 3. Wendy and Robin take time for a picture at Superformal. 4. Delta Psi is a unique fraternity established on the Ole Miss campus in 1855, having originated from the old Ivy League fraternities. We are also the only fraternity on campus which maintains the high degree of secrecy once found in all fraternities. Through our size and internal structure, we are able to enjoy a close feeling of brotherhood and loyalty among our brothers. The '88 fall semester was full of activities such as football weekends, social functions with sororities, and our annual little sister Halloween party. The first semester was wrapped up with our annual Christmas party which benefits a philanthropy. Our spring semester social calendar was also full of activities like the annual "Saints and Angels" formal in New Orleans, as well as our "Mystery Weekend" theme party, and our "Jeremiah Gage" party on red-blue weekend. 1. Jennifer and Mike at a little sister party. 2. Delta Psi-Phi Mu ice cream social. 3. Meet the little sisters party-1988. 4. New pledges on bid day.

Kappa Alpha Order was founded at Washington College on December 21, 1865. Later, in January of 1900, Alpha Upsilon chapter was established at the University of Mississippi. During 1988-1989, the KA's of Ole Miss demonstrated their progressive attitude toward life while possessing a feeling of pride and accomplishment. The men of Kappa Alpha are involved in every aspect of life at Ole Miss, claiming memberships in such honoraries and organizations as Lambda Sigma, Phi Eta Sigma, Alpha Epsilon Delta, Beta Alpha Psi, Omicron Delta Kappa and Order of Omega. KA athletics, both varsity and intramural, as well as its much talked about social program including Rose Ball, Old South, Hell Raising Hayseed, Christmas party, and Final Fling show still another facet of the versatility and excellence portrayed by this fine chapter. Academically, socially, politically and athletically it is easy to see that the KA's at Ole Miss aim for the ultimate and achieve it. 1. KA's are always ready to party in the bush tank. 2. KA's having a good time at MTV swap. 3. Chris and Kim at Bid Day festivities. 4. Bid day on the beach.

kappa Sigma

On December 10, 1869, five friends and brothers met by freight on a cold, wind-swept night to establish a bond of brotherhood that was dedicated to the goals of learning and an institution shaped by the thinking of great men. This institution of fraternal brotherhood became Kappa Sigma. The Delta Xi chapter of Kappa Sigma at Ole Miss has been consistently recognized as one of the top ten chapters of Kappa Sigma nationally. We are involved in virtually every aspect of the Ole Miss campus. Kappa Sigma's are represented in OAK, Chancellor's leadership, Mortar Board, AEA, and BAY just to name a few. We claim positions such as senior class president, Order of Omega president, IFC Vice-President, BACCHUS president, Pi Sigma Epsilon president, and Colonel Reb. Socially, the Kappa Sigma's stand out with our annual South Sea Island party in which we convert our yard into a tropical paradise. Some other parties include our annual Halloween party, Christmas party, and winter formal. 1. Drue and Chase at the Phi Mu Tarzan and Jane swap. 2. Blake and Lynne at the Tri Delt generic swap. 3. Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity was founded at Howard University on the ideals of brotherhood, scholarship and service. The Eta Chapter was established at the University of Mississippi on February 26, 1975.

Active in all facets of University life, Phi Beta Sigma made history October 13, 1988, by moving into their newly renovated fraternity house on Ole Miss's all-white fraternity row. A move that could not have happened without their Graduate chapter, the University, and the support from many caring people. Eta Beta chapter is proud to have among its alumni and members Ole Miss's first black cheerleader, leaders in religious organizations, intramural and varsity athletes, student government, state and local governments, education and science. The diversity and many contributions of Phi Beta Sigma's Eta Beta chapter shows that it embellishes and incorporates its motto into everyday life: "Culture for service and service for humanity" and strongly stands by its founding ideals of Brotherhood, Scholarship and Service.

1. President Julius Harris and friend pose for a picture. 2. Phi Beta Sigmas like entertaining in their new house. 3. Phi Beta Sigma is brotherhood. 4. These Phi Beta Sigmas and Little Sisters think the Spring Smoker was a big success.

phi delta theta

On December 26, 1848, at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, six college men founded a brotherhood called Phi Delta Theta on friendship, sound learning, and moral rectitude. Since those days, $\Phi\Delta\Theta$ has grown into an organization claiming approximately 200 chapters. Although the men of Mississippi Alpha are proud of their national fraternity, we are also proud of our own accomplishments. Established on June 9, 1877, $\Phi\Delta\Theta$ has been an integral part of many aspects of campus life. Two of the last three years Mississippi Alpha was awarded the Harvard Trophy by our national office recognizing the best chapter in the nation. Annually Phi Delta Theta is very active. The Phi Delt's and Delta Gamma sorority have an annual Christmas party with the North Mississippi Retardation Center. In conjunction with the Chi Omega's and the Phi Delt's at Southern Methodist University founded the Magic Lamp Foundation which benefits terminally ill children in Mississippi. 1. Phi Kappa Psi, founded at Jefferson College in 1852, chartered the Mississippi Alpha chapter at Ole Miss in 1857. Successful in academics, athletics and social events, Phi Psi's also have a hand in the inner workings of the University. The Student Programming Board, UMTV-Channel 12, Daily Mississippian, BACCCHUS, ASB, campus senate, Chancellor's Leadership, Ole Miss Ambassadors, soccer, lacrosse and water-ski clubs are just a few of the major organizations in which Phi Psi's participate. Even after the cancellation of swaps, Phi Psi keeps the spirit alive with its So Happy It's Thursday theme. Also, Phi Psi will be celebrating its 132nd annual Christmas party, not to mention the festive winter formal on Bourbon Street. Finally in the spring, the guys will once again wrap up the year with their annual weekend of mayhem — "No Regard" party. The spirit of Phi Kappa Psi is indeed a fine example of Ole Miss tradition, and has been for the past 131 years. 1. We're so excited about this swap. 2. Sigma Nu fraternity, founded in 1869 at Virginia Military Institute, was established at Ole Miss in May of 1927. Since that time, Sigma Nu has proved itself a campus leader in academics, athletics, and social life. Currently, the Epsilon Xi chapter boasts the Student Body President, Interfraternity Council President, Business School President, Chairman and Vice-Chairman of the College Republicans, Campus Model Pledge, and a Newman Scholar. In addition to these, Sigma Nu's are involved in almost every campus organization and honorary. For the past several years, Sigma Nu has dominated intramural sports, both pledge and active leagues. Sigma Nu's enjoy an active social life during the school year, involving football party weekends, Snakes on the Lake, and Roaring Twenties, and with summer comes the annual statewide party on the Gulf Coast. 1. sigma phi epsilon

Sigma Phi Epsilon was founded in Richmond, Virginia in 1901 at what is now the University of Richmond. It was expanded to a national fraternity in October of 1902 and has grown to be the largest fraternity in the United States. Activities for the fall semester began with our Bid Day Bash. Football weekends were accompanied with bands and back yard parties. Homecoming was no exception, and was enjoyed by all, including alumni and parents. Our annual Christmas party and other social events carried us through the fall semester. We found ourselves "South of the Border" at our annual theme party which is becoming a tradition at Ole Miss. Other activities for the spring semester included raising money for the Bessie Speed Center, and the American Heart Foundation.

1. Looking good, feeling good at the Sewer Swap. 2. Douglas and Paige tell Santa what they want for Christmas. 3. Christmas party. 4. Preparation for the South of the Border party.

Organizations

Experience for the rest of your life.

The experience gained through participation in various organizational activities during college will be valuable in dealing with the people you encounter in employment, social functions, and leisure activities. It will heighten your ability to adapt to leadership roles as well as group efforts. It will give you an advantage in learning to accept opinions and values that differ from your own.

Yearbook Staff

The 1989 OLE MISS is the 95th edition of the yearbook of the University of Mississippi. The '89 staff is composed of roughly 70 students: section editors, copywriters, layout personnel, artists, photographers, photo processors, and business personnel.

The annual requires a business manager and assistant to sell 65 pages of organizations, 70 pages of fraternities and sororities, and 20 pages of honoraries.

The job of producing a quality yearbook demands both dedication and patience. Yet through the concerted efforts of the editor, assistant editor, general staff, and business staff, the making of a quality yearbook becomes a reality.

Daily Mississippian

The Daily Mississippian is the only daily campus newspaper in the state. The staff consists of more than 75 students who not only report, but also have the opportunity to work in the related areas in advertising, editing, and production.

A member of the Mississippi Press Association, the paper has served Ole Miss since 1911 when it was a weekly entitled The Mismissippian. It has been a daily since 1962.

The Daily Mississippian is the only newspaper read by most students on a regular basis. It is a morning paper available in most campus buildings and at various local businesses. The Daily Mississippian focuses not only on relevant campus issues, but also covers Mississippi news and the nation.

UMTV

UMTV, a production of the Student Media Center, is run totally by Ole Miss students. Not only does the Channel 12 crew produce a nightly newscast which airs Monday through Friday, but they also produce other programs designed to entertain and inform the University and Oxford community. This year, the UMTV crew was fortunate to be able to travel to Washington for the Inauguration.

UMTV is located in Farley Hall on campus and broadcasts over cable channel 12 in Oxford.

Ole Miss' student-run radio station, U-92, continues to grow in the basement of Farley Hall. The station allows students to program and play their favorite music, whatever it may be.

New to Ole Miss students this year is the addition of WUMS. So much do its creators want to cater this station to the students, they distributed a questionnaire asking about their musical tastes and what they would like to hear.

Campus Senate

The Campus Senate is the legislative branch of the Associated Student Body and is presided over by the Vice President of the ASB. These 50 elected senators representing various areas of campus, comprise rules for carrying out business in matters delegated to the student association.

In addition to making the rules regarding such things as structure and function of committees and qualifications for offices and honors, the Senate also decides how to allocate the money that allows various ASB committees to carry out their functions to best serve the students.

The Senate is divided into various committees that deal with different areas of the ASB.

Senators are elected each fall for a one year term.

Chairmen of the Standing Senate Committees: Brian Staley-Rules, Beth Whitehead-Judiciary, Wade Cox — Finance, Beth Webb-Elections, Davis Brown-Academic Affairs, Rumman Dastgir-Student Services, Alleen McLain-Student Affairs, Lee Ann Major-University Relations, Gerald Irby-University Development, Jay Underwood-Code Revision.

Student Judicial Council

The Student Judicial Council, the highest court in the ASB, consists of an elected chairman and six elected associate members. Their duties include review of legislation and constitutional matters of the Campus Senate in addition to about 400 disciplinary cases a year. Among those 400 cases, the Vice Chancellor of Student Affairs reviews their recommendations.

Executive Secretaries

The Executive Secretaries form a committee which was newly installed within the 1987-88 ASB administration. Made up of volunteers who are experienced secretarial workers, the Executive Secretaries assist the ASB officers by doing clerical jobs in the ASB office.

Although volunteer work in the Associated Student Body government is nothing new, the Executive Secretaries have again proven to be an important asset to this year's ASB secretary, Melanie Sullivan.

Elections Commission

The members of the Associated Student Body Elections Commission are appointed by the ASB President. Election commission members make certain that candidates meet all qualifications for their office, and that the candidates stay within ASB Code regulations for campaigning. They also supervise campus elections in the fall and spring, except Senior Class elections. If any questions about overspending or illegal campaigning arise, the commission investigates and penalizes the candidate if evidence of wrongdoing is found.

Ambassadors

The Ole Miss Ambassadors and Regional Representatives play an important part in the high school and junior college relations activities of the Admissions office. A student organization within the executive branch of the ASB government, the Ambassadors provide tours and assist campus visitors, attend receptions for prospective students, visit high schools, and participate in other programs that communicate information about Ole Miss to prospective students. Members are initially designated Regional Representatives and are selected for membership based on communication skills, grades, and extracurricular activities. Representatives become Ambassadors after having participated in significant number of activities. Membership is open to all undergraduates with a 2.5 grade point average. Application is due in early September.

Chancellor's Leadership

Amanda Robbins

In 1985 Chancellor Gerald Turner announced the formation of the Chancellor's Leadership Class. As a result, the University launched a search for approximately sixty prospective freshman men and women to join the proud ranks of the Leadership Class. These select students are chosen for their accomplishments in high school and are encouraged to further develop their leadership abilities.

As preparation for their leadership roles, the members of the Leadership Class attend leadership functions and seminars throughout the year. Leading the discussions of these events are members of the administration, internationally known professors, students holding top offices in campus groups, and government, professional, and business leaders. Class members are encouraged not only to take part in the various organizations on campus, but to continue to participate in civic and state affairs after graduation.

Karate Club

The Ole Miss Karate Club was founded in 1975 by Bob Nance. Nance's senior student, Bobby Holley, took over as instructor of the group in 1982. Holley is currently director of the Mississippi Karate Association. The style of the Ole Miss Karate Club is Isshinryu, an Okinawan variety. Balance, posture, and agility are stressed as well as stamina and physical conditioning. The club represents the University by sponsoring a major tournament each fall, through seminars by karate masters such as A.J. Advincula, and by its own demonstrations and rank tests. The Karate Club meets on Monday and Wednesday nights, and is open to all students, faculty, and staff.

2. Karate Club officers and members: Bobby Holley-Instructor, Bryan Tucker-President, Janet Smith-Vice President, Cherry Charette-Secretary, Mike Kirkpatrick-Treasurer.

Navy ROTC

The Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps (NROTC) was established at Ole Miss in June 1946, with the purpose of training Ole Miss students for future naval careers.

NROTC students are classified either Scholarship or College Program midshipmen. Scholarship midshipmen are under a Navy subsidized scholarship during their four years in college. These students are selected by nationwide competitive examinations. Upon receiving their degrees, physically qualified students receive commissions as Ensigns in the Navy or as Second Lieutenants in the Marine Corps. All commissioned scholarships students must serve four years on active duty. At the end of the four year period commissioned students may choose to leave the active service and be commissioned in the Naval Reserve.

For more information contact the staff at McCain Hall at 232-5831.

Air Force ROTC

The mission of the United States Air Force is to "Fly and Fight." The mission of the Air Force ROTC is, through a College Campus Program, to commission career oriented Second Lieutenants in response to Air Force requirements by identifying, motivating, and selecting qualified college students.

AFROTC is not all work and no play. Some fun events for our cadets include Tri-Services Field Day, Tri-Services Formal, the Halloween Party, Christmas Banquet/party, and the Annual Dining-Out, which is a formal Air Force banquet. These activities bring our cadets closer together and let them know that there is more to life than just work.

Having well-rounded cadets is one of the goals of our Detachment. AFROTC at Ole Miss not only prepares cadets for life in the Air Force, but life in general as well.

Rebel Recruiters

The Rebel Recruiters have been a vital part of the football program at Ole Miss for about ten years. The girls represent Ole Miss with their friendly smiles and their cooperative attitudes. Not only do they recruit prospective football players, but they support the football team by keeping the school spirit behind them.

"Being a Rebel Recruiter means long hours and lots of hard work, but the end results are always what makes the difference. After "signing day," each girl has a good feeling that they were part of why these guys choose Ole Miss for their new home."-Annette Key, President.

The coaching staff does truly appreciate all the Rebel Recruiters; they depend on our helping them make a strong football team; a team that will bring school spirit and a winning season. We as Rebel Recruiters feel that if we give all we can, we help Ole Miss become a stronger institution.

BAND

Previous to 1928, the UM Band was a small organization under the leadership of a selected student director. In 1928, Roy Coats was appointed as the first Director of Bands with faculty status at the university. Coats' initial marching band exclusively used instruments, uniforms, and equipment donated by the National Guard. Not until 1934 did the band own full dress uniforms purchased with funds solicited by the general student body. In 1958, the Ole Miss Band was invited to perform at the World's Fair in Brussels, Belgium. Prior to the trip, the band competed with bands from many nations at the World Music Festival in Kerkrade, Holland.

Today "The Pride of the South," Ole Miss Rebel Band, performs at all home UM football games and travels to several away games. The Rebel Band has often appeared on regional and national television, frequently performs at National Football League games, and has officially represented the University of Mississippi at Presidential and Gubernatorial Inaugurations. There are three concert bands, in addition to the UM Basketball Band in the University Band program. The Wind Ensemble, Symphonic Band, and Concert Band cover an extensive repertoire of literature while performing regularly scheduled concerts on and off campus.

SAC

The Student Alumni Council, sponsored by the Ole Miss Alumni Association, is comprised of students who represent classes, academic departments, campus organizations, and geographical districts. The SAC acts as the "bridge" between the University's students and alumni. One of the

Modeling Board

Established in 1977 by the Association of Women Students, the University of Mississippi Modeling Board sets and promotes the fashion standards and styles at Ole Miss. Now a part of the Home Economics department, UMMB participates in wide varieties of fashion shows including runway, tearoom, and freeze modeling, numerous television appearances, and print-work. Not only does the UMMB produce fashion shows for the university, but they also serve the state and surrounding areas as models and fashion representatives of Ole Miss. Models are judged each fall by a panel of judges. They are judged on their pose, personality, appearance, and modeling potential.

Kappa Epsilon

Amanda Robbins

Kappa Epsilon is a national professional fraternity which serves to promote women in pharmacy. The Alpha Gamma chapter of Kappa Epsilon was chartered at the University of Mississippi in 1960, and has grown to one of the largest chapters in the nation. Kappa Epsilon strives to instill within its members a desire for high scholarship and a bond of lasting loyalty.

Activities for this year include a Kappa Epsilon-Kappa Psi cook-out, Big Sis-Lil Sis breakfast, school-wide Fall Frolic, exam stress seminar, and a faculty appreciation luncheon in the spring. Kappa Epsilon also has a very successful intramural program which includes flag football, softball, basketball, and volleyball championships.

Kappa Psi

John Coker

Kappa Psi has the distinction of being the first professional fraternity in pharmacy and maintains the largest membership of all the pharmaceutical fraternities. The Beta Rho chapter at Ole Miss was chartered in 1926.

The Beta Rho chapter stresses outstanding leadership, scholastic achievements, community service, and social activities. During the past year, Kappa Psi enjoyed a period of growth and success. We added 26 new pledges and 49 active members. We also welcome 33 new Little Sisters. Our Little Sisters helped with many social functions throughout the year. Some activities we enjoyed this year included a banquet, cookout, and attending the province convention.

2. Kappa Psi 1988-89 officers: Bill Calhoun-Regent, Robbie Wilson-Vice Regent, Scott Weston-Secretary, Henry Koon-Treasurer, Tony McCollum-Historian, Perrin Rowsey-Chaplain, Jason Swain-Sergeant-at-Arms, Kirk Tharp-Little Sister Liaison, Antonio Williams-Athletic Director.

College Republicans

College Republicans is an organization which promotes the Republican party on university campuses across the nation. The Ole Miss chapter of College Republicans meets on the first and third Tuesdays of each month. This year the group has been active in the Victory '88 Presidential campaign for George Bush as well as the Trent Lott for Mississippi senatorial campaign. Throughout the fall, most meetings have focused on the fall election, a topic which all the guest speakers have addressed in detail. College Republicans fosters opportunities for youth in the Republican party and functions as a vital link for many Ole Miss students interested in the political world.

1. College Republican officers: (l to r) Steve Wall-Co-Chairman, Dina Blaylock-Secretary/Treasurer, Caroline Herring-Vice Chairman, Victor Smith-Chairman.

India Association

The India Association is composed of students and faculty at Ole Miss of Indian origin; however, membership is open to anyone interested. The main purpose of the association is to provide opportunities for interaction among the members at the social level; facilitate and promote greater awareness of India and its culture among the students of Ole

Miss; and provide moral support and assistance to its members. Social interaction opportunities are provided by celebration of India festivals, India Night-a major event, and participation in on-campus international events like the "melting pot." These events provide a glimpse of the Indian culture and tradition.

1. The Quawwalli, a form of music with Persian origins, is very popular in northern India. The words are usually couplets and poetry in urdu or hindi, set to music.

2. The Odissi dance originates from the state of Orissa and is a highly sensuous and lyrical form of dance. Odissi dances center mainly on the tempestuous love of Radha and Lord Krishna and are often performed in temples or a religious offering.

Personalities for the rest of your life.

The year of your graduation is a common bond which ties you with hundreds of fellow alumni. At freshman orientation you are thrown together as high school graduates from various regions. It is with these people that you spend hours in chemistry lab, accounting classes, and summer school, and slowly you become friends striving for a common goal. Finally you evolve into graduating seniors from the University of Mississippi.

Closing

Memories for the rest of your life.

Many people have tried to pinpoint what it is about Ole Miss that makes it so unique. Each person who graces the campus with his presence sees a different scope of what the University offers. Whatever niche is claimed, whatever outlook is viewed, whatever identity is chosen, a part of Ole Miss is engrained in each who leaves to reflect on the past and the memories held or embark on life's future.

The 1989 Ole Miss is the 95th Volume, published by Taylor Publishing Company of Dallas, Texas. The press run was 6000 copies. There are 400 9x12 pages printed on 80 lb. enamel paper. The cover is a special design-embossed Blue #452 with Mission Grain applied with Silver #915. The cover was designed by Melanie Buntyn, Richard Whitley, Hedy Walker, Kathy Kellerman, and Deloris Landin. The operating budget was $128,079. Students paid $14.50 in their student activity fee. Other individuals paid $20.00. Revenue made in sales of Honors, Organizations, and Greek pages was approximately $20,243.

Classes portraits, Who's Who, Band, Colonel Rebel, Miss Ole Miss, Favorites, Beauties, Most Beautiful, Best Dressed, and Homecoming Court pictures were all taken by Professional Images of Jackson, MS. Hall of Fame pictures were taken by Clements Photography. Some Who's Who and Favorites were taken by Coffield's Studio. All other pictures were taken by student photographers of the Ole Miss annual.

The 1989 Ole Miss is a student-edited yearbook produced at the University of Mississippi, University, MS. The viewpoints represented in this yearbook are those solely of the staff and writers and in no way reflect University policy.

The editor's closing — I'm not exactly sure what I want to say or what I'm supposed to say. Little did I know when I came here four years ago, that I would be writing something that will forever be a part of Ole Miss. I decided last January to run for editor of the Ole Miss feeling there would always be regret if I didn't at least try. I guess I wanted to leave Ole Miss knowing a part of me would remain. I won't say it has all been fun. It hasn't. Running for, much less winning, any elected position on the Ole Miss campus without Greek support isn't easy. It has been work from the beginning. Many hours of thought have been put into this yearbook — probably more thought than actual work, but nevertheless, the hours have been long and hard. Nothing could have prepared me for this job or for what it has taught me. I've seen Ole Miss from a new perspective — there's a lot here that everyone's not aware of. I'm almost saddened by the prospect of not being a part of it, but I guess, in a sense, I always will be.

It has been a wonderful year. My list of I-owe-yous will probably never be longer. I can't say thanks enough to my campaign manager, Audra Love, without whose confidence and hard work I would never have done this, or to the others who worked so hard to get me elected. Richard, thanks for staying and being my business manager. I never would have survived it without you. Hedy, thanks for the all-nighters working on deadlines, proofs and just talking. Thanks, too, for believing in me. Laura Leigh, you know "I love you," but you'll never know how much it meant to go to Odom A knowing you and the bond we share were there, too. John, thanks for everything — for keeping me laughing and sticking with me. I bet you didn't know what you were getting into, but you did a great job. I would also like to thank Kathy Kellerman, Katrina Howard, Sherry Prestridge, Anne Trainor, Holly Horton, Amanda King, Cindy Mitchell, Steven Wall, and the rest of my staff. You all were great. My apologies for all of my mistakes. Many thanks to Jimmy, Traci, Mr. Denley, Ben, Nancy, and Delores. I would have been lost without you. To the rest of my friends, thanks for the encouraging words and the many prayers.

Vera and Alice, my biggest thanks go to you for consoling me when the barricades no longer held the tears and for your prayers. (Phil. 1:3) Mom and Dad, thanks so much for the sacrifices you made so I could do this. I don't regret it; I hope you don't either.

As you read this closing, the year, too, is coming to an end. I hope that for each of you this book holds some special memory. Please don't be too quick to judge our publication, at least not until you've spent a few hours in our shoes. I'm sure there are mistakes, because I don't claim perfection or journalistic experience. I am proud of the book we've put together. I think we have changed some things — maybe simplified, but we've continued the tradition without ignoring the growth and progression of our university. Thanks Ole Miss for everything. I'll leave soon, but I'll carry with me an experience and many memories. I've learned; I've grown; I've been shaped for the rest of my life.

Melanie
